GARNER CARRIES ORANGE COUNTY AS VOTERS DEFEAT SHARKEY BILL

SENTENCES COMMUTED BY GOV. JUDD

Defendants Serve 1 Hour in Custody of Bailiff and Then Given Freedom GOVERNOR APPROVES Surprise Action Taken After Conference Today; Is Virtually a Pardon

HONOLULU, T. H., May 4. — (UP) — The four Americans convicted of manslaughter in the killing of Joe Kahahawai, half-caste, received commutation of sentences today after they were sentenced to 10 years in Oahu prison. The commutation—that they serve one hour in custody of the bailiff in Judge Charles S. Davis' court, was, in effect, a pardon. The accused—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, Mrs. Grace Hubbard Foote, mother of his wife, and E. J. Lord and A. O. Jones, navy enlisted men—were convicted last week after four weeks of trial. The conviction aroused a storm of protest from throughout Hawaii and on the mainland and thousands, including high government officials in Washington, bitterly protested to Governor Lawrence Judd.

Prearranged Plan The governor today, by prearrangement with Judge Davis, Prosecutor John C. Kelley and Clarence Darrow and George S. Leisner, defense counsel, held a secret one-hour conference. It was agreed that the defendants would be brought in immediately and sentenced and that the commutation would then be issued. Kahahawai was killed last Jan.

BITTER BATTLE IN COURT PREDICTED

LOS ANGELES, May 4.—A bitter legal battle was expected today as the prosecution announced an intention to introduce an alleged "confession" in which Frank Newland, 19, admitted he attempted to slay 17-year-old Lois Wade under circumstances similar to those of the plot of "an American Tragedy."

Introduction of the "confession," according to Deputy District Attorney Grant Hoover would force the final link in the state's case against the handsome golf caddy, who is charged with attempted murder and a statutory offense against the girl. Defense attorneys were expected to fight the move. Newland is alleged to have confessed to deputy sheriffs that he took the girl to a lonely spot near the Meadows Country club in Pomona, made love to her and then beat her and threw her into an abandoned well.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

CAPONE TO ENTER FEDERAL PENITENTIARY LATE TODAY

EXPECT HOUSE WILL PROTECT KINFOLK JOBS

Mitchell Bill to End Hiring of Relatives Will Not Get Very Far

(Copyright, 1932, by United Press) WASHINGTON, May 4.—(UP) — House leaders are expected to order a lingering death in committee for the bill introduced by Rep. J. R. Mitchell, dem., Tenn., to end the widespread practice of senators and representatives carrying wives, children and other relatives on the congressional payroll.

Speaker John N. Garner and Democratic leader Henry T. Rainey are against dealing with this practice by legislation. The bill prohibits any member of congress employing a close relative or the relative of another member. The latter provision is intended to prevent congressmen trading wives or children for payroll purposes.

Garner in discussing this legislation with the United Press correspondent took the position that a secretary is a confidential employee and that no restrictions should be placed on the member in selection of his personal staff. Rainey said it was a matter for the individual conscience of the member. Mitchell accompanied his bill with a vigorous denunciation of what he described as the "hideous monster of nepotism." He challenged members to make an issue of this practice in the coming election and denounced the secrecy which surrounds the congressional payroll as "prima facie evidence of fraud, crookedness and corruption of the rank and file."

This is the second effort in the House to deal with the question. Last week Rep. Mouser, rep., O., moved to amend the economy measure.

HUNT BEING MADE FOR FRANK J. EGAN

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4. — (UP) — A city-wide hunt for Public Defender Frank J. Egan, who vanished while police were investigating the violent death of a woman friend and benefactor, turned today into a grim quest for his body.

Two excited telephone calls, one from Egan to police and another in which his wife, Mrs. Loraine Egan, was told her husband had been "taken for a ride," remained the only tangible clues to his fate. The deepening enigma of his disappearance was linked at first with the death of Mrs. Jesse Scott Johnston Hughes, 55, who made Egan her executor and bequeathed him most of her $35,000 estate. Her battered body was found Saturday morning beside a road in an exclusive residence district. Police believe she was slain and her body run over by an automobile to make it appear she had been struck by a hit-run driver.

RETAINS OFFICE Mayor John C. Porter who was re-elected in the recall election held in Los Angeles yesterday. Porter's victory was almost in the nature of a landslide.

MAYOR PORTER UPSETS PLANS TO UNSEAT HIM

Leads Nearest Opponent by More Than 95,000 Votes at Noon Today

LOS ANGELES, May 4.—(UP) — Mayor John C. Porter overwhelmingly defeated candidates who sought to unseat him in yesterday's recall election.

With less than 100 of the city's 1744 precincts to be heard from today, he had a lead of almost 95,000 votes over his nearest opponent.

On the issue of recall, with 1653 precincts reporting, there were 136,422 ballots for it and 153,723 against it. Charles W. Dempster and William G. Bonelli, the latter an anti-prohibition candidate, were closest to Porter. Dempster drew 74,069 votes while Bonelli got 71,232. Porter took 168,294 in the 1653 precincts. There were seven other candidates but none of them polled more than 2500 votes.

ORCHESTRA LEADER DIES EARLY TODAY

CHICAGO, May 4.—(UP) — Carlton Coon, co-leader of the nationally known Coon-Sanders orchestra, died early today in Heriot hospital. Coon had been critically ill for a week after infection set in following an operation on an abscessed jaw. Coon started his orchestral career in Kansas City and later played in leading night clubs and cafes of Chicago and New York.

SON OF PROMINENT N. Y. DOCTOR HELD

LOS ANGELES, May 4.—(UP) — John F. Box, 21, said to be the son of a prominent New York physician, was under arrest here today accused of issuing checks without funds. Police who arrested him charged he signed his father's name to a $150 check in a downtown hotel. They added that the youth's uncle had informed them young Box assertedly left his wife homeless and without funds recently.

FILIBUSTER ON TAX BILL NOW IS THREATENED

Oklahoma Senator Says He Will Offer 1000 Amendments to Measure

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(UP) — Plans for an unprecedented filibuster including the offering of 1000 amendments to the pending tax bill in an effort to compel inclusion of an oil tariff were revealed today.

Senator Thomas, dem., Okla., told the United Press he would "pass the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill in review before the senate" unless oil was protected in the tax bill. "There are 25,000 tariff rates in the Smoot-Hawley bill," Thomas said. "It is not included in the tax bill I shall move one by one to reduce all protective tariffs revenue only but provide no protection for the northeast."

"I estimate that I will be able to offer about 1000 amendments, probably starting with shoes. To dispose of so many amendments will require about three months. That may sound like a threat. But I intend to go through with it."

Representatives of lumber states renewed the tariff fight in committee today with an invitation to oil and coal states to join them. Senator Jones, republican, Washington, said he hoped to obtain reconsideration of the committee's refusal to put a tariff on lumber.

The first action of the committee today was to substitute a tax of four cents for each $100 par value transferred bonds. The value rate was one-eighth of one per cent. The committee eliminated the four per cent tax on stocks loaned in market transactions. The tax on stock sales was changed yesterday from one-quarter of one per cent to four cents.

Resumption of the tariff debate and the committee's uncertainty regarding revenue to be expected from the bill was announced by the bill to the floor. Senator Reed, republican, Pennsylvania, expressed the opinion it could not be reported before Saturday.

JACOB S. COXEY IS STILL IN RUNNING

WASHINGTON, May 4.—(UP) — General Jacob S. Coxey of Coxey's army fame is still an official presidential candidate who seems to be gaining the attention that such people as President Hoover, Alfred E. Smith, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Newton D. Baker and John W. Garner have drawn. Perhaps that's because his campaign is so complicated that it is difficult to tell just when he is running for what.

To begin with, Coxey is candidate for the republican nomination for president. Then he is campaign-labor candidate for vice president. And he is, at one and the same time, candidate for a republican nomination for the United States senate from Ohio.

Gangster Is Under Heavy Train Guard

Notorious Underworld Chief Sulks and Snarls in His Compartment

BOARD DIXIE FLYER, En route Atlanta, Ga., May 4.—(UP) — Al Capone, gangster who held himself mightier than the law, will enter Atlanta penitentiary tonight to start serving the 11 year sentence imposed upon him for income tax fraud.

In an ugly mood, the swarthy, scar-faced criminal travelled southward today guarded by a ring of heavily armed U. S. marshals aboard the "Dixie Flyer" of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad. The train is due at Atlanta tonight. Capone, bitter over failure to buy immunity from justice with what probably are last profits from the outlaw industry he ruled with terror, sulked in the pullman compartment where eagle-eyed deputies watched against possible escape or rescue attempts.

Nervous over the ride which is taking him to at least seven and a half years in the grim Atlanta prison with time off for good behavior, Capone tried to mask his chagrin with feeble humor and incessant conversation.

Even the handcuffs on his wrists and the leg-irons which were snapped on when he lay down to sleep failed to dispel the prison-pale gangster's grandiose manner. In a style reminiscent of his successful profers of aid to peace officers in the heyday of his underworld dominance, Capone answered:

"All right, let them send me to Atlanta. We'll see how Chicago gets along without me. Who will they go to now when they want to stop the kidnapping racket? Who's going to give protection to business now that I'm gone?"

Capone was escorted swiftly to the train from his cell at Cook county jail, Chicago, shortly before it pulled out last night. He was taken behind a locked door until the train left the station.

More than 29 prohibition agents, secret service men and police guarded the car until it reached

JAPANESE MARINE KILLED IN BLAST

SHANGHAI, May 4.—(UP) — A Japanese marine was killed and another wounded in a bomb explosion today, the second directed against Japanese in the last week. Marine headquarters claimed the bomb was concealed in a horse's feeding trough in the Chapel district, where Chinese and Japanese clashed recently in bitter warfare.

The explosion occurred while a strong guard from the 31st U. S. infantry was on duty in the American defense sector of the international settlement to prevent further raids by Japanese. The marines climbed locked gates and beat Chinese yesterday, and today a Chinese sentry stabbed a chief of sniper activities in Chapel.

TORCH MURDER IS UNCOVERED IN M'FARLAND

Charred Body of Los Angeles Man Is Found in Burned Automobile

M'FARLAND, Calif., May 4.—(UP) — Kern county authorities today were faced with what they believed was the "torch" murder of Ed Curtis of Los Angeles, tentative identification of a body found in a burned automobile concealed on a country lane three miles south of here.

The charred body was found in the burned wreckage yesterday afternoon. That the car, a relic of a decade ago, had been sprinkled with oil or gasoline before it was set afire was held indicated by grease smears found on the tire remnants.

The skull of the body was bullet-pierced. A revolver was found near the death scene. The heat of the fire had almost cremated the body.

Abe Gallegos and Frank Martinez, ranch workers, found the car and the body, concealed at a point behind low trees and an irrigation canal bank at a point three-quarters of a mile from the nearest house on a road seldom used. The tentative identification of the dead man was made by checking the ownership of the license plates of the car.

Coroner N. C. Houze and Deputy Sheriff William Kanawyer pointed out, however, that the dead man may not have been the owner of the automobile.

ALLISON WILLING TO GIVE ANSWERS

LOS ANGELES, May 4.—(UP) — Voicing a willingness to "answer every question," Charles E. Allison, one of the two deposed state receivers for American Mortgage company properties, appeared as a witness in the county grand jury's investigation of the receivership "scandal" today.

Allison appeared at the jury room on a subpoena and stopped to talk briefly with newspapermen. "I'm going to tell the grand jury anything it wants to know of the American Mortgage or other receivership affairs," Allison told reporters.

It was indicated that one of three judges mentioned as recipients of gifts of favors from Allison or his former co-receiver, A. J. Showalter, might be a witness before the jury during the day.

SANTA ANA VOTES DOWN BOTH PROPOSITIONS AS NO. 2 CARRIES COUNTY

Hoover Gets Total Of 17,000 Votes But Republicans Apathetic And Many Fail To Mark Ballots

AL SMITH RUNS POOR THIRD

GARNER'S SMASHING victory over Roosevelt and Smith on the Democratic ticket and the landslide of votes that swept the Sharkey bill to defeat are outstanding in the history of Orange county elections.

Final check of all precincts today gave Garner 7829 votes and Roosevelt, next contender on the Democratic ticket, polled a total of 2320 votes and Smith finished in third place with 1482 votes.

Herbert Hoover, the only candidate on the republican ticket, polled a total of 17,075 votes in the county. Voters in many precincts in the county, registered as republicans, failed to mark their ballots, placing them in the boxes as blanks to be recorded as voted but not credited to Hoover, according to officials.

Heavy Vote The election yesterday attracted a 53 per cent vote, one of the heaviest in the history of the county. The democratic vote of 11,631, was 66 per cent of the total party registration of 17,602, and the republican vote of 17,075, was 50 per cent of the party's registered strength of 34,578.

Orange county swept away the Sharkey bill, providing for an oil monopoly in the state, under a landslide of opposition, casting opposition ballots in a ratio of 6 to 1. The same ratio prevailed over the state. The Sharkey bill was defeated in Orange county by a vote of 28,407 in opposition and 6945 favoring the measure.

Referendum measure No. 2 to prevent leasing of tidelands carried in the county by a vote of 18,895 for and 15,398 against the measure. Voters in Santa Ana were opposed to the measure, to the extent of 5368 votes against it as opposed to 1278 ballots for it. Political observers are pointing out that had the general understanding over the state been that the measure was an effort by the Standard Oil company to protect its field at Huntington Beach against the city and state, the measure would have been defeated. Many observers blame this misunderstanding on the fact that the proposition was stated on the ballot in the negative, instead of positive form.

In Santa Ana Hoover polled a 5009 vote as opposed to 696 for Roosevelt, 1915 for Garner, and 379 for Smith. Santa Ana defeated the Sharkey bill by a vote of 8124 to 1375 and opposed the tidelands measure 5368 to 1278.

Tribute to Hoover A greater percentage of democrats went to the polls yesterday than ever before. This was expected as the only contest in the democratic primary was on the democratic ticket with Garner, Roosevelt and Smith named on the ticket. With Hoover as the only candidate on the republican ticket the heavy republican vote

ACTRESS IS HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 4.—(UP) — Julian Lafaya, motion picture and radio singer, is under arrest in New Orleans on a warrant charging him with grand theft of a piano, Beverly Hills police were informed today.

Lafaya, according to Detective Lieutenant Frank Liebhart, rented a piano from the Bell Music company of Beverly Hills, using the name of a companion, and failed to maintain payments. When representatives of the music company went to his home, the piano had disappeared, according to a complaint in the hands of local police.

Lafaya said he would fight extradition, police were informed. Los Angeles police also have telegraphed warrants to New Orleans asking that Lafaya be held on forgery complaints.

GARNER LEADS OVER STATE BY 43,461 VOTES

Roosevelt Headquarters at Noon Concede Victory—Crush Sharkey Bill

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—(UP) — In an upset that took the surprise, Speaker John N. Garner of Texas captured California's 44 Democratic national convention delegates in yesterday's state-wide presidential preference primary.

Going into the lead at the start, the Texan piled up a mounting lead against his nearest competitor, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, and on the basis of complete returns from 9035 of the state's 10,271 precincts today, was leading Roosevelt by 43,461.

Political observers credited Roosevelt's defeat to former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, who trailed badly but cut deeply into the vote that normally would have gone to Roosevelt and given him the winning margin.

Returns from 9035 precincts gave: Garner, 200,730; Roosevelt, 157,269; Smith, 131,249. President Herbert Hoover, unopposed in the Republican preference race, polled a popularity vote of 592,639 on this basis. Roosevelt headquarters here conceded Garner's victory after holding out almost to the last. The Smith forces also admitted defeat.

Most of the 1238 precincts remaining to report are in the rural

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, May 4.—(To the Editor of The Register:) Let's give a great big hand to those two governors, Rolph of California, and Balzar of Nevada, for making the flight clear across our country in a day. Too many won't fly because of their regard for their country and the shape it would be left in, in case of accident.

See where two English scientists were able, headline said, to "split the atom." The world is not bad enough off as it was, now they go and split up the atom. That's the last straw. We expect the Democrats to split, the country to split over prohibition, but we always felt that the old "atom" would remain intact. It was certainly a big disappointment to me. Come on boys, let's up and atom. Yours, WILL ROGERS

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

Possibly you have felt, since your great sorrow came, that the relentless onward march of the world had crushed you down into the obscurity of insignificance and you have been tempted to declare war upon God and man alike in a spirit of hatred and aggressiveness. Your impulse has been to seize what you could get of what you want in life, regardless of who was hurt in the process.

Thank heaven, you are emerging from such an attitude, for it was shutting you away from the life sweet and strong for others and from the comfort and strength God yearned to give you.

The only way to insure the happiness of the one you love the best is to do your best to make life sweet and strong for others and thus to fit yourself for the reunion of Paradise.

JUNIOR POLICE HOLD OUTING AT IRVINE PARK

More than 125 members of the Santa Ana Junior Police and their parents attended the first "Father's Night" entertainment, staged by the organization at Irvine park last night, where the fathers and their sons ate hot dogs, chili and ice cream.

The outing, first of its kind, proved most popular, and the enthusiasm young boys feel in being members of the junior police force was clearly brought out in a number of speeches made by honored guests.

Mayor John Knox was present to tell the boys that the work they were doing was outstanding and that they were a real asset to the city, while other talks were made by ex-Mayor Frank Purinton, George Munro and City Councilman J. L. McBride.

The junior police and their dads ate 10 gallons of chili, donated by Roy Langley; 240 hot dogs, sent by District Attorney Sam Collins; ice cream from the Excelsior Creamery company; buns from the Kilpatrick Bakery company; Nehi pop, and other foodstuffs was donated by Monty's Grocery.

SERVICES FOR LAGUNA WOMAN HELD THURSDAY

The funeral of Mrs. James R. Randall, noted in Orange county as a club leader, will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Chapel of the Laguna Beach Funeral home, in which city she had resided for the past nine years. The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Santa Ana, whose church Mrs. Randall attended when she first came to California and to Santa Ana in 1914, will officiate. Mrs. Lauretta Chilton will sing a solo, accompanied by Dan Grant.

Mrs. Randall was born in Rockville, Ind., and would have been 74 years old June 19. Her maiden name was Kate Bonsal and for many years she was a teacher and later principal for 10 years of the grammar school at Joplin, Mo. It was while she was teaching that she first became interested in club work and later took up the cause of the W.C.T.U., stumping the state of Missouri in a successful battle for local option.

It was as "Aunt Kate" that she was best known in Laguna Beach. Although Mrs. Randall never would accept office in the Women's club of Laguna Beach or in the county or southern district federations, she was a delegate to all of the important conventions and would have represented Laguna Beach at the state convention in Los Angeles this month. Her short, snappy speeches were features of all the club conventions and her popularity among club women widespread.

Mrs. Randall was a leader in many of the progressive civic movements in Laguna Beach that led up to the incorporation of the city.

The funeral was delayed to await the arrival in Laguna Beach of her closest friend, Mrs. Irene Nichols, of Joplin. The pallbearers will be Joseph S. Thurston, Fred D. Pettis, Roy M. Ropp and B. Clyde Mackey, of Laguna Beach, and G. B. and Stephen Cope, of Hollywood. Her brother, Ike Bonsal, of Los Angeles, will attend the funeral.

SAN CLEMENTE TO ENTERTAIN COUNTY COPS

The May meeting of the Orange County Peace Officers' association will be held at 6:30 o'clock at the Travaglini cafe at San Clemente, where Chief of Police Harry Comber will act as host to the county wide organization. More than 100 peace officers and their wives are expected to attend.

Principal speakers tonight include B. Z. McKinney, Democratic candidate for congress from this district and former police judge of San Clemente, L. G. Nattkemper. Nattkemper is now a lecturer connected with the Ole Hanson organization.

The meeting will start with a typical San Clemente dinner, it was announced and entertainment will follow.

Four Jailed On Liquor Charges

Four men were lodged in the county jail here last night by Constable William Tremaine and Officer Domecq, of La Habra, being booked for possession of liquor. The men gave the names of Melvin Neff, 20; Harold Ross, 17; Melvin McFadden, 21, and Charles Wilhelm, 25. All reside in La Habra.

Davis and Brad Hells.

Ralph Smedley, secretary of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., has been chosen official delegate of the Santa Ana Rotary club to the seventeenth annual district conference of Rotary International which will be held in San Francisco from May 11 to 14. It was announced today following the regular meeting of the club held yesterday noon in Ketter's cafe. Smedley was named by the board of directors to represent the local club. Other members will probably attend the conference, it was indicated.

Clubs from California, Nevada and Hawaii will attend the district conference, the first in 10 years to be held in San Francisco, home of the second oldest Rotary club in the world. Today there are 163 clubs in the district with a total membership of more than 9000, making this the largest district of Rotary in the world, both from the standpoint of clubs and total membership.

Business conditions and problems, particularly as they relate to the retail credit merchant, were discussed by Frank T. Caldwell of St. Louis, Mo., field secretary of the National Credit association, at the meeting yesterday. The speaker was introduced by R. Earl Ruddy, manager of the Business Men's association of Santa Ana.

The speaker declared that retailers generally extend too much credit, that they force too much credit upon their customers, especially in regard to installment buying. He expressed approval in general of the practice of selling merchandise on the installment plan, but warned against going too far in the matter. He condemned stores that advertise unlimited credit to all by stating that this practice was a business impossibility because it was impossible to extend "unlimited credit" to many persons.

He lauded organizations similar to the local Business Men's association where a record of the credit of citizens of the city is listed by a record of how they pay their bills. He refused to prophesy how soon to expect a return to prosperity or a distinct change in the economic conditions of the country. He said more retail businesses have failed in March of 1932 than in any other month previous and placed the blame directly on the extension of too much credit.

U. S. Stands Pat On Court Lineup Against Mexico

NEW YORK, May 4.—(UP)—The same four players who swept the Canadian series at Washington last week, will leave for New Orleans Friday to represent the United States in the second round North American zone Davis Cup play with Mexico.

Chiropractic Assn. Hears Dr. Clay

The Orange County Chiropractic association met last night in the home of Dr. S. L. Aubin, 122 Orange avenue, with Dr. Harry C. Wilhelm, of Anaheim, presiding over the business session. An interesting feature of the program was a talk by Dr. E. L. Clay, of Los Angeles. Dr. Clay used motion pictures to illustrate his lecture on the latest methods used in surgical operations. About 20 were present.

KNOX ENDORSES CIVIC MUSIC MEMBER DRIVE

Returns thus far in the Civic Music association membership drive indicate a real interest, according to officials. In every city of the county which was visited yesterday, the campaign is meeting with the ready response they deserve. The idea is fast gaining strength and those who have charge of the active work in the various cities are greatly encouraged.

The first check up meeting of the Civic Music association of Orange county is to be held tonight at county headquarters, 504 North Main street, Santa Ana, at 8 o'clock, when workers are urged to turn in full reports.

In connection with the movement for a concert series during the season by famous artists, Mayor John Knox issued the following statement today:

"As mayor of the city of Santa Ana I wish to heartily endorse the activity of the Civic Music association of Orange county and call upon all loyal citizens to support this civic project.

"A cultural city is a good city in which to live. I consider this a signal opportunity to uphold the tradition that Santa Ana is a city with an appreciation of the cultural side of life. Membership in the Civic Music association is not only open to lovers of music, but to all those who are interested in culture and in encouraging a finer type of public entertainment and recreation.

"The loyal workers who are giving of their time and energy to this great cause should have the commendation of all our people. This is an altruistic gesture on their part and their only remuneration comes from the satisfaction of having made a real contribution to our community.

"Therefore may the Civic Music association of Orange county join the spirit of National Music Week celebration by making this Civic Music Week in Santa Ana."

SOCIETY

Election of Officers Held by Mayflower Club Members

Meeting yesterday in the home of Mrs. E. E. Frisby, 1012 Kilson drive, members of the Mayflower club held election of officers. Mrs. A. C. Wiebe was named president; Mrs. M. R. Kellogg, vice president; Mrs. William Lawrence, secretary; Mrs. J. W. Parkinson, treasurer, and Mrs. J. H. Patison, correspondent. Mrs. Ray Ford, the president, was in charge of the business session.

Mrs. Frisby and Mrs. V. C. Shidder were hostesses for the day, serving a delicious covered-dish luncheon at noon. Sweet peas and carnations were used in decorating the home. Members spent the after-luncheon hours in cards and sewing.

Those sharing the hospitality of Mrs. Frisby and Mrs. Shidder were Mesdames Amelia Perkins, Fannie Cunningham, M. R. Kellogg, Flora Sanborn, R. E. Smith, R. C. Butler, Roy Ford, C. Arnold, William Lawrence, A. C. Wiebe, John Bolin, J. H. Patison, P. T. Isherwood, J. W. Parkinson, Edward Cochems, and little granddaughter, Audrey Harrell; R. E. Stauffer, Archie Perkins and little son, Roger, and Betty and Jacqueline Shidder, little daughters of the hostess.

Graduating Nurses Are Complimented at Dinner

Promising to remain in the memories of members of the 1932 graduating class of Orange County General Hospital School of Nursing, as quite the pleasant social event of their 28 months of intensive training, the annual banquet tendered the graduates by the 1933 class, was held Saturday night in Hotel Naples on the coast near Long Beach.

Assembling in the hotel for the 9 o'clock dinner hour, the pretty young nurses, with smart evening gowns substituted for their customary severely plain uniforms, enjoyed the decorative effects arranged in their honor. It has come to be a training school tradition that table decorations for this annual hospitality, shall be provided by Miss Grace Elizabeth Lansing, superintendent of nurses.

This year she chose to emphasize the yellow and orchid of the hostess class colors, employing poppy sweet peas and stocks in her table baskets, matching their colors with the pretty place cards used.

Class members accorded this dinner courtesy were the Misses Margaret Woodruff Blew, Lillian Manuel, Frances Mattis, Lela Pace, Jane Parris, Francis Rathbone, Carolyn Roe, Eula Stauffer, and Bonnie Sutherland. In addition was a group of special guests including Mrs. Zaiser, wife of the superintendent of the hospital, Dr. Harry E. Zaiser; Miss Lansing and the two instructors in the school of nursing, Mrs. Julia Salsbury and Miss Anna Ebinger.

Miss Lois Hersberger of the hostess group, acted as toastmistress, proposing toast, unusually clever toasts, with Miss Frances Mattis responding on behalf of the guests. Miss Jane Parris presented the class history, which she had developed in the lyrical meter of Longfellow's "Hiawatha," describing every outstanding event whether social, business or training, during the past two years. Miss Bonnie Sutherland read the class will with its various codicils, and Miss Lois K. Shively of the 1933 class, read the prophecy.

Special interest was manifested in the presentation by the graduates, of a handsome bird cage to Miss Lansing, designed as a home for "Mirandy," the canary given her by a previous class, to be company for the lyrical "Timmie," the gift of the 1929 graduates, and his cage, selected by last year's graduating class.

At 10 o'clock, the diners were joined by a number of young men for dancing until midnight to the strains of an excellent five-piece orchestra. The next social event will be the "depression" party of Tuesday, May 10, at which the Alumnae association will entertain in the new dining room of the hospital plant. The graduation exercises will be held in Orange Woman's clubhouse, Thursday night, May 12 at 8 o'clock.

This year's graduating class is the first under the new ruling adopted at the school, of accepting for training only those applicants who have graduated from high school and can show 10 college entrance credits and one year of chemistry.

Bachelors Have Annual Frolic at Laguna Beach

The sandy shores of Laguna Beach formed setting for a party given by members of the Brotherhood of Bachelors last Friday afternoon and evening, when they met for their annual frolic. Several members motored down in the early afternoon and took advantage of the warm waters for swimming. As the afternoon advanced various beach sports including baseball, tumbling, and pyramid building were participated in.

The delectable pot-luck supper menu, which had been planned by Tommy Cone and Bill Campbell, was served about a blazing bonfire, where the evening was spent in relating stories and jokes. A feature of the evening was the treasure hunt, which led the seekers over crag and through cavern of the picturesque Laguna rocks. The treasure proved to be a box of candy, and was shared by Bachelors and guests.

Those present included the Misses Marian Pence, Lucille Harper, Dorothy Boyd, Maxine Decker, Dorothy Mason, Vera McDonald, Neva McDonald, Virginia Cogan, Alberta Green, Norma Kenney, Adele Lynch and Ruth Dohmer, and Bachelor Brothers Ervin Watkins, Tommy Cone, Melvin Wiseman, Gene Hall, Bill Campbell, Harry Holmes, Paul Bruce, George Griffith, Jack Helton, Joe Crawford, James Goodfellow, Larry Rosster, Garth Olson, Harry Clayton, and the adviser, Sheldon Hayden.

JUDGE'S FARM RELIEF

HOUSTON, Tex.—When it comes to farm relief, Federal Judge Kennerly has some ideas of his own. Charlie Wels, farmer, was convicted of making whiskey at his home. He was fined $300 and given 45 days in jail. The judge, however, suspended the fine for five years and gave Wels 30 days in which to do his early planting before he reported to start serving his sentence.

J. C. ENGINEERS SEE BOULDER DAM MOVIE

Four reels of recent motion pictures of construction and labor on the Hoover dam were shown last night when A. L. Rudy, of the Southern Sierra Power company, of San Bernardino, which is furnishing power for the construction work, gave an illustrated lecture on work at the big project before the Santa Ana Junior college engineers in the science building on the local campus.

Rudy plans to make photographs every three or four months until the work is complete, he said. His services last night were secured through the efforts of Robert Benson, surveying instructor at the Junior college, who was a former fellow-employee of Rudy, and through Glenn Smith, president of the J. C. Engineers.

A short business meeting preceded the showing of the films, and refreshments were served to the 25 members after the lecture.

LEGIONNAIRES INTERESTED IN FORUM DEBATE

Legionnaires of Orange county are expected to be particularly interested in a debate to be staged at the Open Forum of the First M. V. church here Sunday morning and have been invited to attend, according to an announcement made today.

The debate will be between Loyal K. King, business manager of The Register, and Frank Humphrey. The question for debate is whether the United States government should pay the remainder of the soldiers' bonus at this time.

King will speak for the affirmative and Humphrey for the negative.

AIR OFFENSES DOWN

WASHINGTON — Flying is becoming more orderly in the United States as the result of government and state air regulations. The Aeronautics Branch of the U. S. Department of Commerce reports a decrease of nearly one-third in the number of air violations handled in the first quarter of 1932. Civil penalties were assessed against 40 persons during this period.

TAXI COMPANY CIRCULATING NEW PETITION

Taxicab drivers and others connected with the Courtesy Cab Lines here and Santa Ana Bus service are circulating a petition addressed to the Santa Ana City council today, asking that board to lower rates in some cases and that the 10 cent rate in the downtown district be made permanent. It also seeks permission to handle extra passengers at a flat 10 cent fee.

The petition is as follows: "We, the undersigned citizens of Santa Ana, hereby express our approval of your action in trying to save the city bus service from abandonment.

"We respectfully suggest that the transportation business of Santa Ana, both busses and taxicabs, be strictly regulated and protected the same as our other public utilities. We further suggest the following safeguards of the public interests:

"(a) That every driver of a bus or taxicab shall be required to pass a strict examination as to physical and moral fitness for the position.

"(b) That the 10 cent per passenger rate be permanently established, to the one mile limit from the center of the city.

"(c) That beyond the 10 cent zone, the rate charges be but five cents for each one third of a mile, making the rate at the two mile limit 25 cents, instead of the present 50 cent rate. That the rates be increased under this measurement at 10, 15, 20, 25, 30, etc., to the city limit, instead of the present step up from 15 to 25 and then 50 cents.

"(d) That the rates be lowered for groups riding from the same address by charging the zone rate for the first passenger only and 10 cents per passenger for each additional passenger. Thus three passengers riding from the 25 cent zone would pay 25 cents plus 10 and 10 or 45 cents instead of the present charge of three times 25 or 75 cents."

The petition is expected to be filed with the city board at its meeting next Monday night.

HILL GARDEN PARTNERSHIP BEING ENDED

Coming as a distinct surprise to residents of Santa Ana, was the announcement today that the firm of Hill and Carden, established for 22 years in this city, is to be dissolved. Jabe Hill is selling out his interest to Lester Carden, it was announced. The business was established in June 17, 1910 and has occupied the same store building at 112 West Fourth street ever since.

In order to dissolve the partnership, stock valued at $60,000 will be placed on sale tomorrow and the sale will continue until half the stock is sold, so that the deal can be consummated. Both Hill and Carden are well known in Santa Ana, having lived here for many years and raised their families in this city.

Jabe S. Hill, who was president of the company, in a public statement made today, explained that the company has been unable to dispose of a lease on the Pasadena store which still has two and a half years to run and that he, and his son and brother, will take over the interests of the Pasadena store and the Whittier store. Mr. Hill plans to stay in Santa Ana until school is out and will then make his home in Pasadena.

Friends of the two business men today declared that they were sure the public interest is equally divided between the men, and that Mr. Hill will be wised, the best of success in his new undertaking and for Mr. Carden in continuing the local business to a long and prosperous future.

MEXICAN HELD ON FORGERY CHARGE

Lupe Gallardo, Stanton Mexican, who was arrested several weeks ago after officers had taken him to the Orange county hospital, badly cut in a fight with another Mexican, was held to answer to the superior court at the conclusion of his preliminary examination today. He is charged with forgery.

The case was heard before Justice Kenneth Morrison. Gallardo is alleged to have passed a forged check for $15 to W. B. Blakeman, local pool hall operator, January 17.

Sheriff's officers sought Gallardo for some time, but did not arrest him until the night they found him badly cut about the head with a knife.

Hold Inquest In Doheny Park Car Death Thursday

An inquest over the body of Mrs. Cora Wright, 37, of San Clemente, who was fatally injured in an automobile collision at Doheny Park Monday night, will be held at the Roy Divil Funeral home in the Spanish village Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, it was announced by the coroner's office today.

Homier Wright, San Clemente chef, husband of the crash victim, and Mr. and Mrs. James Long Jr. and Ralph Hutchings, of Santa Monica, who were in the other car, were injured, though not seriously.

Burglars Raid Placentia Home

Burglars broke into the home of A. A. Phillips on North street, east of Placentia, some time last night while members of the family were away from home and stole the household silverware, and other articles, according to a report made to the sheriff.

Entrance was gained to the house by breaking out a rear window. The thieves, believed to have been two in number, raided the ice chest and ate two bowls of strawberries, it was reported.

The entire house was ransacked. A list of articles reported stolen included a travelling bag, electric clock, hat, dozen, dozen teapoons, half dozen salad forks, half dozen table spoons, half dozen knives and forks and a half dozen soup spoons.

WITH this Mother's Day issue we are junking that anemic word "shopping" and substituting the more virile "buy." We hope that every reader of this page will go forth and do likewise—that is, buy instead of shop. It appears that merchants everywhere are gravely indicting women for too much "shopping" and too little buying; in brief, of reducing merchants and merchandise to rack and ruin with their inordinate haggling, mauling, stalling over purchases from one-half to one-third of the price formerly paid gracefully and cheerfully. Of course, YOU are not guilty of this appalling new crime dubbed "shopping"; surely I am not. Obviously someone is, and there is something to this wail of merchants throughout the land.

Whatever age your mother may be—whether you lead her by the hand, or she leads you by the hand—she will revel in a visit just now to GREEN GABLES, for never before could "Your Fashion Shop" boast so much finery, side by side with so much commonsense feminine apparel. With the enviable experience of age, and a spirit that remains eternally young, Mrs. Elsie Schmidt pleases the old, the teens, and the betweens. It is no uncommon thing for Mrs. Schmidt to send on their way with satisfied smiles—and beautiful frocks—three generations of ladies in one morning. While granddaughter rhapsodizes over down-laid silks and flamboyant sports cottons, grandmother smiles over snug neck; long-sleeved, quiet colored prints, sensible in materials and prices; meanwhile, daughter thanks heaven for something really smart for the plump and forty group, in serviceable dark silks and the new cotton favorites, to stand the strain of modern social, business, club and travel life.

TURNEY'S FLIKIL, at Grocery, Drug, Hardware Stores. Orange county. Are YOU prepared for the summer visitors that pile in upon us like poor relations, uninvited and unannounced? You've heard a lot about that ounce of preventive — It works wonderfully in the matter of spraying FLIKIL before the ants, moths, flies, mosquitoes, etc., get a start in your home. Where FLIKIL is sprayed generously a few times a week, these creeping, crawling, flying, hopping visitors pass on to some less effectively prepared premises. Of course, if you've let these pests get a good, strong army inside your house, it is then advisable to close the windows and doors and spray the entire house thoroughly, leaving it closed for some time. FLIKIL "Kills 'Em Dead"—All you have to do then is sweep up the carcasses. FLIKIL is a clean, non-poisonous household insecticide, super-powered and 100 per cent effective.

KREML Hair Tonic and Shampoo

—Buy it at McCoy's Drug Stores, Fourth at Broadway, Fourth at French, and K-B Drug, Main at Sixth, Broadway at Second. Hundreds of new converts to KREML hair tonic and Shampoo testify in personal letters to the manufacturers of what Kreml has done for their scalp and hair. We have seen these letters, and after months of personally using Kreml, we enthusiastically add our own amen to all they say, and more. Because we've watched Kreml hair tonic in daily process of curing one of the stubbornest cases of dandruff probably to be found anywhere. You couldn't do mother a bigger favor than to include a bottle of Kreml hair tonic and shampoo in your offerings for Mother's Day. This would give you an opportunity to mooch enough to get an idea of what Kreml will do for your scalp and hair. What could be more valuable to woman than a product that relieves her of all worry about the scalp and hair. Oiliness, dryness, stiffness, stickiness, Kreml transforms them all into that fluffy sheen belonging to healthy, alive hair.

JAYCEE OFFERS STUDY COURSES THIS SUMMER

That the Santa Ana Junior college will definitely offer a discussed summer session was made known today by Dean McKee Fisk with the publication of a bulletin which will be distributed throughout this part of the state in high schools and other junior colleges. A limited number of high school courses as well as a complete program of regular college courses will be presented in the session from June 20 to July 29.

The summer session has been designed for those students who desire to earn additional credit either to make possible a lessening of the amount of work carried during the regular session next year or the earning of credits to enable students to graduate with their class if they do not have sufficient credit at the end of the regular school year. Several courses have been scheduled to enable students to take subjects outside of curriculum requirements, and deficiencies in grades or courses either in high school or college can be made up in the summer session, according to the announcement.

Admission Requirements
Admission to the college courses for the summer session will be the same as for a regular session, the bulletin states. Any graduate of a standard high school will be eligible for admission to the college and any qualified individual will be admitted to high school courses.

All college credits earned may be applied toward the title of Associate of Arts, Fisk said. Particular attention will be given to students desiring to remove either grade or subject-matter deficiencies incurred in high school, and courses have been devised in all departments for this purpose, he said.

Registration Dates
Registration for the summer session will be held Friday and Saturday, June 17 and 18, it is announced, and students who do not register at this time will be assessed a late registration fee. A tuition fee of $4 per college unit and a registration fee of $2.50 per person will be charged. The tuition charge for six units, the maximum which will be allowed, will be $20, beside laboratory fees for certain courses where equipment is necessary. The cost for a half-unit high school course will be the same as for a three-unit college course.

The regular faculty will offer courses in Astronomy, Botany, Chemistry, Economics, Education,

ROW WITH DE VALERA MAY COST PREMIER OF SOUTH AFRICA HIS JOB

BY MILTON BRONNER

LONDON, May 4.—One old-time rebel calling upon another rebel not to be too rebellious—that was the piquant spectacle presented to the British Empire when Premier James Hertzog of the Union of South Africa cabled President de Valera of the Irish Free State regarding the latter's dispute with Great Britain.

And all Hertzog got out of it was a polite snub from de Valera and a terrific hammering from the Republicans in his own party, which may result in his own political downfall.

President de Valera proposes to eliminate from the constitution of the Irish Free State the oath of allegiance to the king that members of the Dail must take. The British government at once announced it stood by the letter of the treaty and the fight was on. Then Hertzog swung into action, cabling:

"You will permit me, as a sincere supporter of the independence and freedom of the Dominions and as one who firmly believes that, on the basis of the sovereign independence of each, cooperation between constituent parts of the British League of Nations is essential to the maintenance of the influence and prestige thereof, and will benefit all and each, to express the earnest hope that nothing will be done which will seriously disturb the friendly cooperation between the two oldest of the sister states."

De Valera replied in a cable saying he appreciated the friendly motives and then went on to argue the Irish case. Hertzog replied in a cable which was semi-apologetic in tone and said he did not want to prejudice the case.

But he had already spilled the beans in South Africa, so far as he was concerned, because Senator T. C. Visser, chairman of the "Republican Bond," an important part of Hertzog's political party, promptly cabled de Valera:

"We admire your manly attitude in your negotiations with the British government and hope you will insist on the rights which you and we obtained under the Statute of Westminster."

From all of which it is evident Hertzog is going to have a lot of explaining to do right in his home country.

The whole incident is the more interesting because in many ways the careers of Hertzog and de Valera run on parallel lines. Born in Cape Colony in 1856, when the little Boer republics fought the war with England 1899-1902, Hertzog

KEEPING FIT TO BE THEME OF Y CIRCUS

Residents of Santa Ana that attend the annual Y.M.C.A. circus either Thursday or Friday night at the local "Y" building gymnasium, will be doomed to have some of their illusions shattered regarding the proper method of taking off surplus adipose tissue, or, in other words, the proper method of reducing.

For R. R. Rusick, physical education director of the local "Y," has prepared a "short but sweet" talk on the proper method of taking off unwanted weight, and will surprise many with the revelation of the proper way to reduce in a scientific manner without the harmful use of "freak" diets.

Dangers in Reducing
There is danger in reducing too fast, Rusick declares. Exercise, done in a wise manner, is of extreme benefit. He leaves the matter of diet in the hands of physicians but says that a person who is too fat can eat whatever he wants but "not too much of it." Calories, he says, must be limited.

Of peculiar interest to many is the statement Rusick made that the use of too much salt, coupled with an excessive dripping of water, tends to create undesired fat. The water, he claims, is held in the system by the salt.

Exercise should be taken for achievement of the purpose desired, he said. A fast exercise is useful to "wind" and for recreation, but is of no use in building muscle. Heavy, slow exercises are what build muscles of iron, he maintains. Attainment of proper weight will be the theme of this year's circus. Clowns will emphasize the theme with a various program of laugh-provoking stunts which will be interspersed throughout the program. The clowns will endeavor to show how the wrong method of reducing many cause acute distress. Several typical circus clowns will perform.

Many Thrilling Stunts
In the air and on the floor, youthful, but accomplished gymnasts will thrill the large crowds expected with a series of events that will maintain the interest of those attending throughout the quick-moving performance. N. T. Burgess, slack wire artist who has been connected with prominent circuses, will be a featured performer. The complex formation of pyramids will furnish one of the main diversions of the performances. "High-powered" tumbling acts, dances, and all sorts of attractions will be on the bill.

Another popular idea that Rusick will explode is that a cold shower in the morning will keep a person in ideal physical condition throughout the day. A cold shower, he declares, can result in nothing but shock to the system and ultimate harm if persisted in. The proper method of taking a shower is to take a warm shower, and then a cold one. An hour a day spent in exercise of some sort is required to keep the body in good physical condition, Rusick asserts.

STATE PRIMARY NEXT ON BILL FOR CALIFORNIA

BY HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 4.—(UP)—As another presidential primary passes into history, political interest in California shifts to the state primary August 30. At this election a corking good fight is in prospect for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Southern California has contributed four of the five challengers for the senatorial toga now worn by Senator Samuel M. Shortridge. These include Congressman Phil D. Swing and Joe Crall, Leo V. Youngworth and the Rev. Robert P. Shuler. In Northern California, State Senator Tallant Tubbs is conducting a campaign on a platform for modification of the Volstead act.

Governor Rolph "brought home the bacon" from his trip to Richmond, Va., by securing the 1933 conference of 48 governors for California.

They will be entertained on their trip to this state by the cities of Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles, although the regular business sessions will be at the state capital.

Remembering the governor's fixed policy that every visiting governor must be welcomed by a salute of 17 guns, observers are predicting that the cannon in Sacramento will be busy for some time after the state executives arrive.

Adjutant General Seth E. Howard of the national guard once figured that it cost $6.30 for each 17-gun salute, or 40 cents a shot. However, the salute for the visiting governors would not cost that much now, as the cost of powder has dropped, and the state owns its own cannon.

Political gossip: Repeal of the Volstead Act will be Proposition No. 1 on the November general election ballot in California . . . and state supervision of liquor sales will be No. 2. . . . Frank McColl, Rolph campaign manager in Shasta, is running for state senator for the new district of Shasta and Trinity counties. . . . It is expected that Theodore Roche will accept the position of director of motor vehicles May 1. . . . His deputy will be Daniel J. O'Brien. . . . Frank Cory, veteran deputy secretary of state, underwent an operation at a local hospital this week. . . . He is recovering rapidly, however. . . . Lieutenant Governor Frank Merriam didn't stir up much fuss while he served as "acting governor" during Rolph's absence. . . . In fact, he spent most of his time at the state capitol in his own offices.

'HEN FRUIT' IS RECOGNIZED IN NATIONAL WEEK

And now, for the fifth consecutive year in the United States, the American hen will receive homage from all corners of the nation with the observance of National Egg week this week. The celebration of the development of the poultry industry in the United States, which has come to be a national institution, an industry valued at a billion and a quarter dollars.

A proclamation signed by Harry R. Lewis, president of the National Poultry Council, states that the week is a period set aside in order to recognize a great agricultural industry that stands sixth among the agricultural pursuits as measured by value of products produced.

"It will be a period in which to acquaint the consuming public with the peculiar and valuable protective properties possessed by eggs as human food. It will be a special period in which great emphasis can be laid upon more efficient and effective methods in the production and marketing of eggs," he said.

LECTURE ON CHINA FOR COLLEGE GROUP

An essay and slogan contest with cash awards will be a feature of the week. Further information can be secured from H. W. Kerrigan, California state chairman, at Petaluma, California.

FISHERMAN'S CLUB SELECTS OFFICERS

Election of officers featured an organization meeting of the Fishermen's club held Monday night in Room 218 in the Ramona building. V. V. Morgan, international secretary, was present and outlined the duties of officers previous to the election.

Lloyd Gibbs was named skipper (president), Roland Pickhardt first mate (secretary), Gerald Bowers purser (treasurer), Coy Maret, captain of light tackle crew, and Erroll H. Barnes, tinsmith. Trustees named were L. D. Mercereau, the Rev. Frank Lindgren, William I. Gibbs, A. R. Marshall and Erroll H. Barnes, who was instrumental in organizing the local club.

At the meeting last night, officers of the club expressed appreciation to all those that aided in the successful organization of the club here, including Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mercereau, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Pickhardt and Barnes. In remembrance of Mother's Day, members of the club will bring their mothers to the Monday night meeting as honored guests. ## Today and Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMAN

The Meaning of the Budget Struggle

NEW YORK, May 4.—The house has done to the economy bill what it did to the tax bill. It has torn it to pieces. There is no cause for astonishment in this. All experience of legislative bodies shows that in a serious budgetary situation the ordinary representative who must soon face his constituents will not voluntarily vote for heavy sacrifices by taxes and retrenchments. The task is too great for political human nature. That is why every government facing a problem of the magnitude of ours has had either to balance its budget by executive decree or to obtain a special and overpowering national mandate from the people.

It is important to realize this. For unless the inherent difficulty of the problem is well understood the public is more likely to give itself over to despondent complaint than to organize itself for effective action. This is particularly true in the United States, where because of the inflexible character of our government, none of the short cuts such as a resort to executive decree or to coalition government are possible. Our problem can be solved only by the awakening of an informed and powerful public opinion.

It is necessary, therefore, to seek clear ideas on the real meaning of this confused struggle to balance the budget.

A candid view will show at once that if the administration program of taxes and economies, or any other program now under discussion, were promptly enacted, the budget for next year, that is, for the year extending from July 1, 1932, to June 30, 1933, would certainly not be in arithmetical balance. Not only is there no provision made for the sinking fund, but the Treasury is counting upon pay-ment on the war debts. It has calculated the yield of taxes on the assumption of an improvement in business; nothing has been provided for unemployment relief, though that will certainly be necessary next winter; and the estimate of economies is optimistic and so deficiency bills are highly probable.

The truth is all programs for balancing the budget depend upon the success of the effort to arrest the fall in prices, and stimulate some recovery of employment and profits. That being the case, why is it so important to make the struggle now toward the ideal of a balanced budget? That struggle will obviously have to be resumed next winter even if congress votes the taxes and economies now before it.

The answer usually given is that a balanced budget is necessary to maintain the credit of the United States government, and that it is vitally important to maintain that credit at all times, but particularly at a time when private credit is so seriously impaired. That answer is correct, but it needs to be amplified if it is to be convincing to those who look at the present prices of government bonds, and wonder whether there is any real doubt about the national credit.

The credit of the United States rests upon the conviction that the government can and will meet its obligations. This means two things: that the government will exercise its sovereign right to tax the people and that it will not tax them more than they can and will bear.

The first duty of the government, then, is to show that it has the courage to draw upon the resources of the people. If it has not that courage, its credit is at once impaired for it is then demonstrating that it is not willing to place all the resources of the nation behind its obligations. If the government is afraid to tax the rich, if the rich are powerful enough to avoid taxes, then obviously for that government the fortunes of the rich are a frozen asset. If the government shows that it is afraid to tax the middle class in some fair proportion then for the purposes of the government's credit the wealth of the middle class is a frozen asset. Therefore, in a time like this the best tax bill from the point of view of the national credit is one which fearlessly opens up to taxation by one method or another the whole range of incomes. That this taxation should be progressive, so that the larger the income the larger the rate, is perfectly clear and undisputed. But unless taxation is comprehensive as well as progressive the national credit has not been fully sustained.

The second duty of the government is to show that it can control its own expenditures. If it has not the political courage to resist the pressure of lobbies, or organized minorities of its own employees, then it cannot convince the taxpayer or the purchaser of its obligations that it can really perform what it promises. A government which cannot resist the pressure of the veterans has lost control of a very large part of its expenditures. A government which cannot reduce the pay of its own civil servants, when that pay has increased in real value, is no longer sovereign. A government which cannot reduce subsidies to special interests is under their heel.

Therefore, from the point of view of the national credit, those economies which are politically the most dangerous are for that very reason the most important. The actual savings which can be made provide relatively little relief. But a proof that the government can make them is of the utmost importance, because it shows that there is no bottomless hole in any part of the budget.

The substance of the matter, therefore, is that though the budget will not be brought into balance by any measures now contemplated, though a true balance of the budget can probably be attained only after another struggle next year, and then only with an arrest of the deflation, the present struggle is of vital importance. It is a struggle to preserve the credit of the United States by demonstrating that the government is in command. What matters is not the arithmetical calculations, but the courage displayed. If congress will pass a tax bill that is both comprehensive and progressive, and an economy bill that defeats the pressure of organized minorities, it will have "balanced the budget," even if the accounts do not actually balance fourteen months hence.

The demand for a balanced budget at a time like this is in essence a demand that the government exercise its sovereignty. For the credit of the United States will be good for all necessary purposes as long as the government is the master in its own house.

The Farmer's Outlook

Written for The United Press
by the University of California

SACRAMENTO, May 4.—Economic signs of the times point definitely to the beginning of a back-to-the-land movement.

Three groups are now beginning to move back to the land, according to a survey just completed by the National Land Use Planning committee, representing such organizations as the Federal Farm board, the National Association of American Land Grant Colleges of Agriculture, and the United States department of agriculture.

In these groups are included, first, those who left the farm a few years ago, and are now returning to a place of refuge, in many cases with relatives and friends.

Secondly, those who are going back to the land simply to obtain food and shelter, and who are renting or cropping from landowners willing to give them a chance.

And the third group includes those who have enough money to make a small down payment on a farm, eventually expecting to own their own piece of land.

There is nothing surprising or startling in this back-to-the-land movement. That is, it has been anticipated for some time.

Agricultural economists said, quite some time back, that the movement would come. They based their conclusions on past history which showed always a drift from the farms to the cities, and then, a reversal of conditions in the form of migration from cities to farms.

Charting these movements, the agricultural economists proved that they operated in cycles, and depended on economic conditions. The back-to-the-farm movement, these economists believe, is the beginning of the turning point in return to normalcy in business.

To provide safeguards that will prevent exploitation of those who are now going back to the land, and at the same time stop new land-use problems from arising, is one of the major tasks of the National Land Use Planning committee, on which, of course, the college of agriculture, University of California, is prominently represented by Professor C. B. Hutchison, dean and director, and Professor H. R. Tolley, director of the Glanville Foundation of Agricultural Economics.

For it is evident that one of the major causes for some of the troubles experienced by agriculture during the last decade or so, has been the lack of a definite public lands policy.

The seriousness of the situation, particularly as it prevailed in the past, and as it has encroached on the present, is indicated by the fact that right now there are 57 bills before congress affecting the public domain.

These proposed measures deal with many subjects arising out of the problems of public domain or land use. Some of these topics are: Adjustment in submarginal areas; adjustments and reorganization in better farming organization in better farming areas; land inventories and land classification; adjustment and reorganization in taxation in relation to land use; public range and forest land policies; reclamation, drainage, and irrigation policies; land values; control and direction of land settlement; agricultural credit.

The solution of these problems will have a strong bearing on the successful settlement and operation of agricultural lands.

BUY Insured LUBRICATION from your Independent Dealer

A BEARING went bad, he missed his train and lost his order! Such events happen many times every day, for more than 20,000,000 bearings—an average of over 50,000 every day—were replaced in passenger cars and light trucks in the United States last year.

The cause of these millions of replacements can, almost without exception, be laid to faulty or insufficient lubrication. Now to solve the baffling problem of proper lubrication, Quaker State offers Insured Lubrication through independent dealers who display the familiar green and white Quaker State sign. They will supply your car with the right Quaker State lubricants in the right places at the right time.

"If you will have your independent dealer use only Quaker State lubricants in your car and adopt the Quaker State Plan of Lubrication, we will supply you with a One Year Guarantee insured in The Travelers Indemnity Company of Hartford, Conn., which agrees to pay the customary cost of repairing or replacing any burned out and inoperative bearings resulting from faulty or insufficient lubrication."

To secure this protection it is asked that besides using Quaker State products exclusively, you equip your car with the device called "Roll-o-Miles." Your Insured Guarantee will be sent free. "Roll-o-Miles" is a lubrication guide and Check-Chart in a metal container. It rolls up and fits into the pocket of your car, providing a chassis diagram of your car showing every lubrication point with the proper lubricant required, with space for making a record of every oiling and greasing job.

SEEK $20,000 FROM OWNERS GOLDFISH FARM

Goldfish are all right in their place and a goldfish pond is not bad, but when the pond is for commercial purposes and is allowed to leak and destroy the value of other people's property that is just too bad, according to Edward B. Finley and his wife, Amelia J. Finley; George H. and Ella Finley, and Frank Stever Van Uden and Frankie Myrtle Van Uden.

The above have filed a joint damage suit in superior court demanding a total of $20,000 from Winifred Mae Morris and others in addition to an injunction restraining defendants from operation of the gold fish pond or from allowing water from the pond to escape in such manner as to destroy, further, the values of their property.

The Finley and Van Uden property adjoins that of Mrs. Morris in the Westminster district. According to the complaint Mrs. Morris and others included in the action operate a commercial goldfish pond on the Morris property. Water is allowed to seep through the sides and overflow from the pool and onto adjoining land, it is charged.

This water constantly escaping through the side walls, bottom and over the banks of the pond, according to the complaint, has caused adjoining property to become soggy, water-logged, impoverished and sour and has caused alkali and salts in the land to come to the surface making it unfit for farming land.

Edward and Amelia Finley want $5000 for damages to their property. George and Ella Finley are asking $12,000 for damages and the Van Udens claim their property has been damaged to the extent of $3000. All the plaintiffs have joined in the request for a restraining order against operation of the pool.

Avocado Growers Get Market Data At La Habra Soon

All avocado growers of Orange county are urged to attend a mass meeting to be held at the Washington school, La Habra May 11, at 7:30 p. m. The invitation is extended by the avocado department of the farm bureau, headed by Judge F. O. Helm, chairman.

Dr. E. A. Stokdyk, University of California, who has recently completed a survey of marketing avocados in California, and the east, will present his findings. This meeting with be of particular interest to all avocado growers in view of the increasing production of this fruit in California.

The report will be illustrated with charts and data. The meeting is open to all growers, regardless of their method of selling fruit, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

STANTON

STANTON, May 4.—Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Laughlin attended a house warming given for Mr. and Mrs. B. Smiley in Long Beach. Mr. and Mrs. Smiley have just moved into their newly built home. Several years ago they organized the New Year's club, which meets at midnight at their home on New Year's eve. Members of this club gave them a surprise shower of a large clothes basket heaped high with gifts.

Mrs. Minnie Toner, of Palm Springs, accompanied by Miss Grace Dunbar are spending the week with Mrs. Toner's aunt, Mrs. J. H. Rutledge.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Stiel and son, Byrl, of Sawtelle, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Harter, Saturday callers in the Harter home were Mr. and Mrs. Crane, of Long Beach.

During a wind storm here S. M. Carter's new windmill was blown down, two large windows were blown out of the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Brandon and part of the roof was torn off of Mrs. Bennett's house and considerable damage was done to Mr. Thompson's young trees.

Mrs. Roy Rowe, while attending church in Long Beach on Sunday, had the misfortune to fall down a flight of stairs, injuring her back. Mr. Rowe's mother, Mrs. Emma Rowe, of Fullerton is staying with them.

Mrs. Emory G. Weed and children, of Niles, and Mrs. Frank Davis, of Glendale, sister of Mr. Woods, visited Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Weed recently.

E. F. McKibben, A. Lindley, L. M. Benson and J. Sitke attended the open meeting of the I. O. O. F. Tuesday evening.

Twenty-Four Hours
That Made History

The DUEL THAT ROCKED A NATION

When Alexander Hamilton, fearing public scorn more than Aaron Burr's deadly aim, went to his death

By HENRY W. LAWRENCE

"ANDREW W. MELLON was shot by Vice President Curtis this morning in a duel!" Such a headline in 1932 could not be much more startling than was the bulletin posted up in New York City, back in 1804, that "General Hamilton was shot by Colonel Burr this morning in a duel."

In each case a famous ex-secretary of the treasury was involved with a vice president of the United States still in office. Probably the Burr-Hamilton battle produced whiter heats of excitement in its time, however, than any Mellon-Curtis tragedy could stir up today.

This drama, which made Hamilton a martyr and Burr an outcast, opens late at night on Tuesday, July 10, 1804. The first scene shows only two actors.

Tomorrow they will seek to take each other's lives, but tonight they are seated quietly, each in his own home and at his own desk, writing, endlessly writing, with many a long pause for reflection and many an anxious thought of the events less than a dozen hours ahead.

BURR's thoughts are chiefly of his brilliant and intensely beloved daughter, Theodosia, to whom he writes:

"I am indebted to you, my dearest Theodosia, for a very great portion of the happiness which I have enjoyed in this life. You have completely satisfied all that my heart and affections had hoped or even wished.

"With a little more perseverance, determination, and industry, you will obtain all that my ambition or vanity had fondly imagined. Let your son have occasion to be proud that he had a mother."

To his son-in-law, Theodosia's husband, he says: "I have called out General Hamilton and we meet tomorrow morning. . . . If it should be my lot to fall, yet I shall live in you and your son. I commit to you all that is most dear to me—my reputation and my daughter."

Hamilton seems more concerned with explaining to posterity that he disapproved of the coming duel, but had been forced into it. He writes:

"On my expected interview with Colonel Burr, I think proper to make some remarks explanatory of my conduct, motives, and views. I was certainly desirous of avoiding this interview for the most cogent of reasons.

"FIRST—My religious and moral principles are strongly opposed to the practice of duelling; and it would ever give me pain to shed the blood of a fellow creature in a private combat forbidden by the laws.

"Secondly—My wife and children are extremely dear to me, and my life is of the utmost importance to them in various views.

"Thirdly—I feel a sense of obligation toward my creditors, who, in case of accident to me, by the forced sale of my property, may be in some degree sufferers. I do not think myself at liberty, as a man of probity, lightly to expose them to hazard.

"Fourthly—I am conscious of no ill-will to Colonel Burr distinct from political opposition, which, as I trust, has proceeded from pure and upright motives.

"Lastly—I shall hazard much, and can possibly gain nothing, by the issue of the interview.

"But it was, as I conceive, impossible for me to avoid it. The disavowal required of me by Colonel Burr, in a general and indefinite form, was out of my power, if it had really been proper for me to submit to be so questioned.

"BESIDES that, Colonel Burr appeared to me to assume, in the first instance, a tone unnecessarily peremptory and menacing, and, in the second, positively offensive. Yet I wished, as far as might be practicable, to leave a door open to accommodation. I am not sure whether, under all the circumstances, I did not go further in the attempt to accommodate than a punctilious delicacy will justify.

"It is not my design, by what I have said, to affix any odium on the conduct of Colonel Burr in this case. He doubtless has heard of animadversions of mine which bore very hard upon him; and it is probable that, as usual, they were accompanied with some falsehoods. He may have supposed himself under a necessity of acting as he has done.

"I hope the grounds of his proceeding have been such as ought to satisfy his own conscience. I trust, at the same time, that the world will do me the justice to believe that I have not censured him on light grounds, nor from unworthy inducements.

"As well because it is possible that I may have injured Colonel Burr, however convinced myself that my opinions and declarations have been well-founded, as from my general principles and temper in relation to similar affairs, I have resolved, if our interview is conducted in the usual manner, and it pleases God to give me the opportunity, to reserve and throw away my first fire, and I have thoughts even of reserving my second fire, and thus giving a double opportunity to Colonel Burr to pause and reflect.

"It is not, however, my intention to enter into any explanations on the ground. Apology, from principle I hope rather than pride, is out of the question."

THE second scene in the drama opens a few hours later, at daybreak of Wednesday, July 11, 1804, in the library of Aaron Burr. The challenger seems not at all disturbed by the perilous prospect. He is lying on a couch, partly dressed, sleeping the sleep of apparent peace and tranquility.

A friend enters, stares in astonishment, then awakens him, and they soon proceed toward the appointed meeting place, the heights of Weehawken.

By rowing across the Hudson River, they reach, at about half-past six, this duelling ground, already famous, or infamous, for its many deadly encounters. The west bank of the Hudson rises here to a height of perhaps a hundred and fifty feet; rocky, steep, covered with small trees and thick underbrush.

Twenty feet above the water is a grassy ledge or shelf, about six feet wide and a dozen paces long—just long enough, for men of mad determination. Burr and his second climb over the rocks to this secluded and fatal spot.

A few minutes before seven o'clock, Hamilton's boat approaches the ominous field of honor; doubly ominous to Hamilton, since here it was, less than three years before, that his brilliant son Philip, only 18 years old and just graduated with high honors from Columbia College, had lost his life in a duel.

PHILIP had challenged. It was pistols, at 12 paces. Young Hamilton received his antagonist's bullet in a vital part, and died after 20 hours of excruciating agony. A saddening, shattering memory, this, for Alexander Hamilton as he went forth to fight Aaron Burr.

Burr, too, has memories, less shattering, of a duel more recent. It appears that a friend of Hamilton had tried to effect a last-minute reconciliation for him with Burr; had failed, quarreled with Burr and then fought a duel with him. The weapons were swords. The net result was a slight wound in the arm for Hamilton's friend.

It is almost seven o'clock when Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr finally confront each other on the death ledge at Weehawken Heights. With them are their seconds, Pendleton for Hamilton, Van Ness for Burr.

Just what happened there during the next few minutes is not exactly known today. The testimony of the witnesses is somewhat conflicting. In particular they disagree as to whether Hamilton actually shot at Burr.

Pendleton insisted that the discharge of Hamilton's pistol was accidental, and that he continued firm in the intention, of which he had written the night before, not to aim at his antagonist.

This view was followed by the famous biographer James Parton, who, writing many years ago, describes the scene as follows:

"HAMILTON'S boat was seen to approach. A few minutes before seven it touched the rocks, and Hamilton and his second ascended. The principals and seconds exchanged the usual salutations, and the seconds proceeded immediately to make the usual preparations.

"They measured 10 full paces; then cast lots for the choice of position, and to decide who should give the word. The lot, in both cases, fell to General Hamilton's second, who chose the upper end of the ledge for his principal, which, at that hour of the day, could not have been the best, for the reason that the morning sun, and the flashing of the river, would both interfere with the sight.

"The pistols were then loaded, and the principals placed, Hamilton looking over the river toward the city, and Burr toward the heights, under which they stood. As Pendleton gave Hamilton his pistol, he asked: 'Will you have the hair-spring set?'

"'Not this time,' was the quiet reply.

"Pendleton then explained to both principals the rules which had been agreed upon with regard to the firing; after the word present, they were to fire as soon as they pleased. The seconds then withdrew to the usual distance.

"Are you ready?" said Pendleton.

"Both answered in the affirmative. A moment's pause ensued and then the word was given. Burr raised his pistol, took aim, and fired.

"Hamilton sprang up on his toes with a convulsive movement, reeled a little toward the heights, at which moment he involuntarily discharged his pistol, and then fell forward headlong upon his face, and remained motionless.

"His ball rustled among the branches, seven feet above the head of his antagonist, and four feet wide of him. Burr heard it, looked up and saw where it had severed a twig. . . .

All this seems clear enough, and quite in accord with Hamilton's written intentions; but there is evidence that he changed those intentions while on the field of conflict, and that he made last-minute preparations to shoot straight at his antagonist. Thus, Van Ness, Burr's second, in answer to an inquiry, later wrote about the affair as follows:

"The parties took their places; General Hamilton raised his pistol as if to try it, and again lowering it said, 'I beg your pardon for delaying you, but the direction of the light sometimes renders glasses necessary.' He then drew forth his spectacles and put them on.

"THE word 'present' was then given, on which both parties presented. The pistol of General Hamilton was first discharged, and Colonel Burr fired immediately after. . . . I can safely declare that I was never more firmly convinced of any fact that came under my observation."

The weapons used in this duel, in comparison with modern weapons, might almost be classified as artillery. They were horse pistols of English manufacture, 16 inches long and of .56 caliber; in reality small guns, rather than pistols.

The ball from one of these small cannon, fired at 10 paces distance, entered Hamilton's body "between the two lower ribs." It is remarkable that he remained alive for more than 30 hours afterward, dying at two o'clock on Thursday afternoon, July 12.

Wherever the blame may properly be placed for this fatal encounter—whether on the savage custom of the period, or upon the vindictive rage of Burr, or perchance on the immoderate political vituperation of Hamilton—its consequences are clear enough. It greatly magnified Hamilton's fame by crowning him with martyrdom, and as greatly magnified the infamy of his antagonist. It undoubtedly ended fortunately for Hamilton, and most unfortunately for Burr.

Officers Selected For Parent-Teacher Groups

MRS. J. H. RYMER NAMED LEADER IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, May 4.—J. W. McCormac, read of a Santa Ana business college; Schuyler Bigelow, supervisor of school attendance of Orange county, and J. W. Baldwin, superintendent of Huntington Beach schools, were speakers at the Placentia Parent-Teacher association, meeting yesterday afternoon, being introduced by Mrs. Marjorie Fox and Miss Beattie Clarke.

Officers were formally elected for the coming year. The election was held preceding the meeting, after which a playlet was given by Mrs. Ruby Schenck's fifth grade.

Mrs. J. H. Rymer will be new president, replacing Mrs. Oscar Carlson. Mrs. Dean Hasson is the new vice president. Mrs. Richard White, recording secretary; Mrs. M. Mulr, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Frank Hill, treasurer; Mrs. E. Francis, parliamentary; Mrs. Beattie Twombly, historian; and Mrs. Marjorie Fox, auditor.

Children who took part in the playlet were Ruth Speer, Richard Schade, William Lott, LeRoy Lyon, Jeanne Jacobson, Gordon McMahon, Patricia Adams and Rosemary Kraemer. Billy Nordheim was announced as benefactor of the maps and Arthur Benfield made the signs above the doors used in the scenery. Vena Copeland was announcer.

Mr. Baldwin told of the interesting activity program in use at Huntington Beach, and pictured the future school room built like a modern home, fitted for children's use, where all are active and busy in a comfortable environment.

He described the methods used and asked, as the last half of his lecture, that all visit and see the means and the ends that are being accomplished.

Mr. Bigelow told of the findings of supervisors of attendance, or truancy officers, and of the modern methods of caring for children who do not attend regularly, telling how often the cause is one that cannot be avoided by the child, but can be remedied when wise investigation is made.

Mr. McCormac told of the need of doing more with the individual child in school training, and of the splendid results schools are having at present.

Verlin H. Spencer Named Principal At San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, May 4.—Verlin H. Spencer, member of the teaching staff of the Julia Lathrop Junior High school of Santa Ana, will be the new principal of the San Clemente grammar school. She Spanish Village school board at its meeting last night engaged Spencer as principal at a salary of $1650. The board also engaged Mrs. Ora Johnson as a teacher and re-engaged Mrs. Ray Barnett at salaries of $1500 a year.

The resignation of Mrs. Hortense Vernon, principal, was accepted as was that of Mrs. Caroline Thompson. Spencer is the first man teacher engaged by the San Clemente grammar school board.

The board at its meeting swore in W. I. Barry, newly elected board member, then elected him secretary to take the place of Den Acres, who retired. Bartlett was re-elected president.

FIRE FIGHTING DISCUSSED AT CANYON CAMP

A recent activity of the forestry department of the farm bureau was a crew leaders' training school, held at the camp grounds in the Trabuco canyon.

Twenty-one gathered around the campfire in the evening, different ones relating experiences having to do with fire fighting, hunting or fishing. The main speaker of the program was Woodbridge Metcalf, forester with the University of California, who outlines the state fire plan for this year. Fire suppression funds have been curtailed to the point where state aid will only be given to those districts where local co-operation is being.

Last year was particularly serious in certain districts as far as fire loss was concerned. Many fires were of incendiary origin, which has led the forestry department to reduce the pay of fire fighters to 20 cents an hour and where fires appear to be of incendiary origin, suppression crews will be shipped in.

Beginning again at 8 a. m., the program started with an outline of the principal causes of fire and fire suppression tactics given as a demonstration under the leadership of John Osterman, Joe Scherman and W. M. Cory. Up on the conclusion of this demonstration, an intensive training program began and which was not concluded until 2:30 p. m., under the leadership of Mayhew Davis, assistant forest supervisor, Cleveland National forest, and Harry Valentine, district ranger, Cleveland National forest.

NEW LA HABRA TENNIS COURTS ARE DEDICATED

LA HABRA, May 4.—A large crowd of La Habra last night attended the dedication ceremonies of the new tennis courts recently constructed on the grounds of the Lincoln school. The school band, directed by John Brewer, impersonating Frank L. Barrows, music director of the school, played two selections. This was followed by the audience singing "Our Tennis Court," an original song written to the tune of "There's a Long, Long Trail."

Superintendent of Schools E. R. Berry then told how the tennis court was built. He stated that the teachers had given two percent of their salaries since last October and that recently the American Legion had aided by furnishing unemployed men to work on the courts, paying them out of the post's special fund. Various business men either donated their materials or made them at a most reasonable figure. Among these were Brown & Dausner Lumber company, cement; Lindauer corporation, sand and gravel; O. T. Stephens, concrete mixer and other equipment; the city loaned its grading equipment and truck for hauling out the excess dirt, and E. Dunbar donated skilled labor on the cement work.

S. L. Treff, principal of the Wilson school, made the presentation and Nelson Launer, president of the school board, gave the acceptance speech. A net stretching ceremony was then held by Nelson Launer, assisted by Benjamin Roberts and L. H. Brewer, members of the school board.

A mock tennis game between Professor Barrows, Joe Severns, principal of the Washington school, L. Toy of the manual training department and R. O. Wright, seventh grade teacher and boys' coach, was played.

The court will be open to the public at all times, with only one day a week reserved for the teachers.

Birthday Party Held By Chapter

SAN CLEMENTE, May 4.—The Order of Eastern Star staged a birthday party at the Social club Monday in observance of the second birthday of the funeral organization. More than 100 guests were present.

An exhibition game was then played by two members of the Fullerton Junior college. The court will be open to the public at all times, with only one day a week reserved for the teachers.

Mrs. Nellie Sylvester of Santa Ana, deputy grand matron of this district, was an honored guest. Lorna Barry sang an original number composed by Mrs. Houser and Mrs. J. O. Chilton, of Laguna Beach, also gave a solo number. A dinner was served in the club room.

Initiation Held By Eastern Star

YORBA LINDA, May 4.—Katherine Ludley was initiated into Yorba Linda chapter of the Eastern Star at the regular meeting hour last night. After the initiation ceremony, a short social hour was held and refreshments were served.

OFFICERS INSTALLED BY P. T. A. OF YORBA LINDA; ADKINSON TALKS ON TAXES

YORBA LINDA, May 4.—Officers were installed, committee appointments were made and an interesting and entertaining program presented at the meeting of Yorba Linda Parent-Teacher association yesterday afternoon at the school. Mrs. J. L. Albee, who has held the chair two years, pronounced two of the most successful in P. T. A. history in Yorba Linda, turned the gavel over to Mrs. A. J. Olsen, incoming president, following installation. Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, was the principal speaker.

Other officers installed were Mrs. Sydney Chapman, vice president; Mrs. A. B. McDavid, secretary; Mrs. Le Brecht, treasurer; and Mrs. J. J. Carter, historian. Mrs. Olsen appointed Mrs. J. W. Murray as program chairman, Mrs. Fred Johnson, study circle chairman, and Mrs. William Bates, magazine chairman, following installation.

In accordance with plans of the board of managers, the picnic scheduled for the last of school was called off because the majority of the class rooms are planning individual events of the sort.

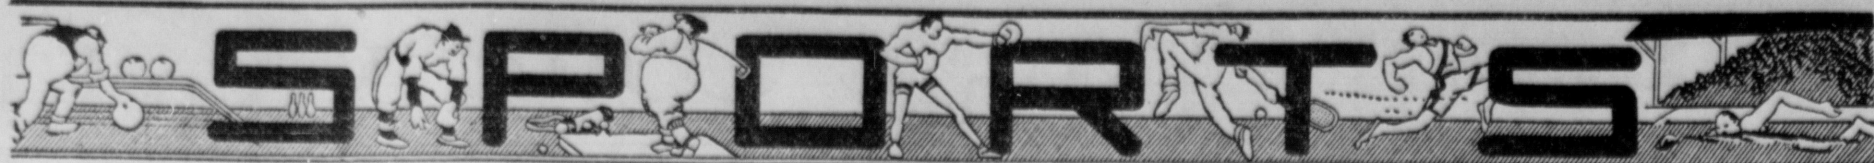

Adkinson talked on the trend of school taxes and on the present conditions facing the schools of the country. He urged that the class room teacher be maintained at a high standard. Children of Mrs. Lois Hall's kindergarten room and of Miss Etta Snedecor's first grade room presented the program of playlets, recitations and songs as entertainment. Hostesses were mothers of those rooms.

In checking P. T. A. attendance, it was found that Miss Snedecor's grade and Miss O'Neal's grade received prizes for largest parent attendance at the session.

Stars Beat Riverside, Finish Exhibitions Friday

LACKAYE'S MEN HIT SAFELY 15 TIMES, WIN 7-4

One more game—that with Rialto here Friday—and Santa Ana's Stars will be ready for the National Night league pennant pursuit.

Winning their sixth straight pre-exhibition game at the Bowl last night, 7-4, George Lackaye's merry men showed Riverside a beehive of busy batsmen, staunch pitching and in general a lineup sure to make a worthy showing in the impending struggle for first place laurels.

The Stars usually more proficient than this, were guilty of three errors, two by the usually mechanically perfect Catcher Wilcox who let in two early runs. But the team made up for this deficiency with an offensive attack sustained throughout every inning of the evening. Santa Ana gathered 15 baseknocks, with Pitcher Charles Felton Cornelius and Outfielder Red Ballard each contributing three safeties.

Rap Slow Ball Specialist Lloyd Lichtenwalter, slow ball expert, tolled for Riverside. He was hit hard, in trouble every round, lucky the margin of difference wasn't greater. His change of pace failed to disturb Lackaye's lieutenants.

Only one of Riverside's runs was earned. The Rubes got their first in the first with two dead when Baker walked and Bevington doubled to right, "Rosy" Merrill, the proud papa, booting it long enough to let Baker score. Crosbie's single and another Bevington hit, a triple, produced an earned run in the third. Bevington tallied, too, when Wilcox muffed Hotz's third out popup in front of the plate. Zikrat's single, Crosbie's sacrifice, Baker's infield out and Wilcox's passed ball gave the visitors their fourth and last run in the seventh.

Daily, Nelson Corbairate Dally's double and Nelson's single gave Santa Ana one in the first. Hits by the same pair, and Ballard's fly to left added one in the third. Scott's single, Sullivan's sacrifice and Cornelius' double accounted for another in the fourth. Scott was safe on Burgess' error in the sixth and completed the cushioned circuit on Sullivan's third successive sacrifice and Cornelius' single. Ballard hit a home run to center in the seventh, the ball being a drive too shallow for Crosbie who tried for a shoestring catch, missed, let the ball go through him. Hits by Cornelius, Hill and Merrill manufactured the Stars' last one in the eighth.

DON NETMEN BLANK CITRUS COLLEGIANS
Coach L. W. Archer's Santa Ana junior college tennis team registered its third Orange Empire conference victory over Citrus yesterday, 23 to 0, in a clean sweep to enjoy a .750 rating, their only loss coming at the hands of Chaffey in a first match.

With the exception of a practice match with the high school this afternoon, there will be no more matches for the Dons until they face Riverside here Saturday. Riverside trimmed Citrus, 18 to 5, two weeks ago, so the Santa Ana-Riverside match should pack interest. Results follow:

First singles—Kirk (SA) defeated Vach (C), 6-3, 6-0.
Second singles—Carruthers (SA) d. McKisack (C), 6-3, 6-1.
Third singles—Evans (SA) d. LaRue (C), 7-5, 6-3.
Fourth singles—Hafer (SA) d. Temme (C), 8-6, 8-6.
First doubles—McAdams and Eustice (SA) d. Spencer and Nichols (C), 6-4, 6-1.
Second doubles—McAdams and Eustice (SA) d. Spencer and Nichols (C), 6-4, 6-1.
Score—Santa Ana 23, Citrus 0.

Yale Leader, Minus Arm, Aids Victory

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 4.—(UP)—Eddie Warren, Yale's one-armed baseball captain, played right field yesterday and led his team to a 15 to 2 victory over Wesleyan in his first game since his arm was amputated after a motor boat accident last summer.

Using a special bat and swinging with his powerful right arm, Warren played a prominent part in the Yale attack. In four times at bat, he got one hit and one walk, scoring two runs and driving in another.

He played right field instead of his former shortstop position, and handled his only fielding chance brilliantly.

PCO VS. DELHI BOUT PROGRAM FOR TOMORROW

First and most successful of Southern California's amateur arenas, the Pico Athletic club tomorrow night brings a full squad of boxers to Santa Ana for a "tournament" with Orange County Athletic club favorites at Delhi. The team-match card features on Thursday night, fistclouting at Elmer Willson's southside punch bowl, and Matchmaker Kid Mexico hopes and believes his extravaganza is the classiest yet presented since boxing went amateur at Delhi. He wants to start the new "fite nite" auspiciously.

Keen Test For McCarter
"Bud" McCarter, most popular main-eventer yet developed among local amateurs, faces the rugged Henry Pena of Pico in the wind-up. At 166, the Orange high school youngster comes in with about six pounds pull in the weights, and he may need it if Pena's recent successes are any criterion.

Pena met the highly touted Mike O'Garra at Inglewood Friday night, O'Garra being rated as the best light heavyweight in Southern California. Matchmaker Mexico shuddered, fearing his top-notch would take a licking, perhaps even cancel the engagement here. Instead, O'Garra felled the celebrated Pena twice in three rounds, earned a unanimous decision. So the Inglewood affair helped rather than hindered the McCarter-Pena build-up.

Mandenschield In Bow
A new and potential main-eventer, "Red" Mandenschield, former Santa Ana jaycee football star, is introduced in the semi-final. Mandott, 160 pounds, meets Pat Savage of the Pico invaders.

Doyle Richards and Kid Sierra, both well known to Delhi clients, mingle in the feature spot. This is one of the two bouts where it isn't Orange county vs. Pico, Richards being a Santa Ana, Sierra from Doheny Park. The other is the curtain-raiser.

Other bouts: Nat Mills vs. Manuel Martinez; Bill Perry vs. Jack Lujan; Vic Orocco vs. Joe Urias; Baby Sal Sorto vs. Ray Ferris; Johnny Orocco vs. Ralph Montoya; Pete Torres vs. Roy Virgil; Kenney Brown vs. Everett McDonald.

FARWICK NEW GRID COACH AT ARIZONA
TUCSON, Ariz., May 4.—(UP)—Lieut. A. W. Farwick, All-American guard of the United States Military academy a decade ago, has been assigned to the R. O. T. C., unit of the University of Arizona, and will take complete charge of football activities beginning July 1. This change will bring to Arizona teams the West Point style of football, it was predicted.

RESUME CITY LOOP CONTESTS TONIGHT
Four more teams begin their Santa Ana City league night baseball race at the Bowl tonight, with games scheduled at 7 and 8 o'clock.

In the curtain-raiser, Weber's bakery meets the Red and White Stars. In the nightcap, J. C. Penney company opposes Al's Auto Service.

OLYMPIC GAMES NEXT STOP

Here are two blond youths whose work in sprints and middle distances will go a long way toward American effectiveness in the Olympic Games. Left, Ben Eastman, Stanford, who has set new world marks in the quarter and half mile this spring; right, Frank Wykoff, Southern California, America's sprint king.

REVEAL REAL 'INSIDE STORY' OF PHAR LAP'S DEATH COLD

By BILL CORUM
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 4.—Thomas Patrick Gorman, manager of the Agua Caliente race track and the man who bid more than any other individual to bring Phar Lap to America, has just given me the "inside story" on the death of the mighty Australian gelding—possibly the greatest race horse ever foaled.

It is Gorman's opinion that this half-million dollar horse was sent to his untimely death because a bus driver was in a hurry, or approximately that. It seems that they sent one of those deluxe horse busses, in which fortunate thoroughbreds travel as comfortably as human beings in the modern Pullman, down from the Northern California farm on which Phar Lap died to pick up the horse at Caliente and van him to San Francisco.

But the owner of the bus had some horses which he wanted to transfer to the Tanforan track, so he instructed the driver to waste no time on the trip. The result was that Phar Lap was rushed from the dry, warm climate of Mexico to the dampness and chill of Frisco, with the further result that he caught an intestinal cold from which he died.

spreading the story that I was a hotel beat, and I couldn't afford to give them a chance, although of course I would have won such a case in court.

Out "At Home"

Another time Dempsey went on a two weeks hunting trip, while staying at a big New York hotel much frequented by ball players. The day he left a ball player went to the hotel desk and told the clerk Dempsey had invited him to use his apartment while Jack was away. The clerk gave him the keys.

When Dempsey returned he found his apartment looking as if a cyclone had blown through it. He had a large stock of shirts, ties, shoes and clothes in the closets when he left, and the bureau drawers were filled with supplies. There was also the usual supply of toilet articles, etc. And the only thing left was one discarded dirty short thrown in a corner.

Dempsey rushed down to the hotel office and demanded who had been through his rooms. The clerk told him that "a party of ball players" had moved in on Dempsey's invitation to use the place while he was away.

"I never invited anyone to move in," said Dempsey.
"Oh yes," said the clerk—"that was my understanding. And here's the bill for their meals while you were away."
Meals for a crowd had been served in Dempsey's apartment for nearly two weeks—and everything charged to Jack. It was pay or be sued again—and he paid. But he moved out of that hotel and never went back again, and at every hotel he stopped in afterward while on the road with a show, or stopping in a town for any length of time, he furnished the hotel with a written statement of the parties for whose bills he would be responsible and a notice that he would not pay for anyone else.

Looks now as if Dempsey would have to do the same with stars.

CUBS RECALL MILLER
LOS ANGELES, May 4.—(UP)—Abie Miller, Los Angeles pitcher, was to leave today for Chicago to join the Cubs, who have recalled him. Angel officials announced that Sherwood McKenzie, young right-handed pitcher from Chicago, had been given his outright release.

Bad Weather Jumbles Big League Races

NEW YORK, May 4.—(UP)—John Heydler, president of the National league, expects warm weather and road trips in the next two weeks to reveal the probable relative strengths of major league baseball clubs.

"You can't tell anything about the pennant races yet," Heydler said last night. "We have had the worst early season weather in the past three weeks that I've ever seen, and as a result everything is topsy-turvy in both leagues."

SCHMELING TO PUNCH LOW IF SHARKEY DOES

By HENRY MCLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 4.—(UP)—Sharkey runs true to form and Schmeling keeps a promise he made a month ago, the customers, if any, stand a fair chance of seeing something new in brawls when the two men meet here in June.

Sharkey has a habit of hitting low. Whether he does it intentionally nobody but Sharkey knows. But the fact remains he is a first class foul puncher, being as adept with his right hand as his left, his uppercut or his hook.

This questionable skill of landing below the equator cost him the championship in his first fight with Schmeling, when a low blow led to disqualification, and not, as the new ruling has it, just another "X" in the referee's score pad.

The bad man from Boston probably will let fly with more than one below the belt smash in the coming fight. When the first one lands, we shall see if Schmeling's word means anything. For the German has promised to swap low blow for low blow, foul punch for foul punch.

"I didn't know very much when I fought him before," Maxie said. "But this time I am smarter. Never you fear, I'll take care of myself if he gets to hitting me unfairly. I shall give him just the same treatment he gives me. If he makes no fools, I make none. But if he does—well, Maxie can take care of himself."

Even thick-headed Little Oscar back there on the last row can figure out the possibilities there. Sharkey goes out in an early round—maybe the first—and hooks one into the rough. Schmeling replies in kind. Sharkey comes right back with another one. So does Max. And so on throughout the fight.

In that event, the bout would end with both men losers, for under the no-foul clause the man who lands a low blow loses the round. Of course, the boys could be tossed from the ring, but that would leave 25,000 losers—or as many customers as were there.

Vote Letters To 10 Jaysee Cage Players

Basketball faded out of the sports picture here two months ago, but Santa Ana junior college's successful court season soon will be recalled to the minds of 10 players.

Coach Bill Foote, who delayed making awards because all equipment had not been accounted for, has ordered through Walter Wilcox, college commissioner of men's athletes, the necessary monograms.

The 1932 cagers, most of whom will return next fall, will be honored in an early assembly. Jimmy Hall, Emmett Seacord, Hideo Higashi, Fred Brooks, Max Stull, "Hen" Thiery, Harold Spangler, Russell Sullivan, Mike Santa Cruz and Ellwood Lindley will receive awards.

SANTA ANA HAS 3 HOME GAMES ON NEW SLATE

Protesting because of a "suicide" schedule calling for games with Riverside, Santa Ana, Chaffey and Fullerton on successive Saturdays, Pomona junior college entered a plea for revampment, which conference officials readily granted at a meeting in Pomona, and as a result, a new 1932 football schedule, drastically different from the first one, was arranged today for the Orange Empire conference.

D. K. Hammond, president of the junior college, and G. A. "Tex" Oliver, director of physical education, represented Santa Ana at the conference.

As far as Santa Ana fans are concerned, the new schedule will be welcomed, since Coach Bill Cook's Santa Ana Dons will open their season at home against San Bernardino October 8. Originally, Santa Ana was slated to play at San Bernardino.

The bye date, October 15, remains unchanged for the Dons, and Santa Ana faces Pomona here October 22, as previously arranged. Instead of meeting Citrus here October 29, however, Santa Ana travels to Riverside, and the following week, November 5, goes to Citrus. Chaffey comes here November 12. Santa Ana journeys to Fullerton November 24.

Although helped to some degree, Pomona still has a rather severe assignment. It meets Chaffey, Riverside and Santa Ana on successive Saturdays, draws a bye, then comes rough the easier part of its schedule. On the last day of the season, October 22—Pomona at Santa Ana; October 29—Santa Ana at Citrus; November 5—Santa Ana at Riverside; November 12—Chaffey at Santa Ana; November 19—Santa Ana at Fullerton; ## DR. POPENOE IN TALK ON HOME AND MARRIAGE

ORANGE, May 4.—Factors determining successful and unsuccessful marriages were outlined last night by Dr. Paul Popenoe, when he gave the sixth of a series of discussions on "Marriage and the Home" at the First Presbyterian church.

Dr. Popenoe, who is secretary and general director of the Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles, based these factors on problems which have been brought before the institute as well as on statistics tabulated by expert investigators.

Balance of Attitudes

The success of marriage depends on the balance of attitudes toward marriage; of technical knowledge of marriage and the wise choice of a mate, the speaker explained. When these requisites are properly balanced by the couple, a happy marriage results, and vice versa, he said.

In speaking of divorce, Dr. Popenoe said it complicates matters rather than better them. When a couple separates, the problem is not worked out, but must be faced just the same. If intelligent people really want to solve problems which arise during marriage, they can do so, instead of running away from them by getting divorces.

The whole problem is an educational one, he continued, which can be solved as much by the church as any other one institution. Through the church, it could be made possible for the young people to have a wide choice of acquaintances; to take courses in religious education, where theories alone are not propounded. Also, ministers could and should assume a greater responsibility in marrying couples, he stated. As a general rule, ministers marry almost anyone who has a marriage license, regardless of whether or not he knows anything about the bride and bridegroom.

Divorce Crisis Reached

Dr. Popenoe stated that he believes the divorce crisis has been reached, and that people are making adjustments to problems brought about by social and economic changes of today.

In enlarging on the factors of the successful marriage, Dr. Popenoe said that the attitudes toward marriage are largely beyond control. That is, they are influenced by environment, parents, current literature, moving pictures, etc. When prominent people get divorces, the news is played up so that divorces and prominence are associated in the minds of many.

An understanding of what marriage means should be had by the prospective bride and bridegroom, he continued. It must be understood that monogamy is the foundation of society. Because some people never really grow up, they are interested in all men or all women, and cannot be satisfied with one mate—hence unsuccessful marriage.

Modern Girl Unsettled

Many marriages are unsuccessful because the man or woman concerned is selfish, and does not "give and take." Others are unsuccessful because if she chooses a career, she thinks she should have married, and vice versa, the speaker stated.

Marriage is the most exacting of all partnerships, as well as the most flexible institution man has, Dr. Popenoe brought out. It is exactly what people make it. For it has no specifications. When those involved have a determined idealism that marriage is the most important of agreements, and that nothing can interfere with its complete working out, the marriage is very likely to be successful, he said.

In speaking of free love unions, Dr. Popenoe said that they are not based on a firm foundation, for they disregard responsibility.

Schools Helping

Dr. Popenoe explained the technical knowledge necessary to the successful marriage as including understanding of the difference between the sexes; of home making and financing and of the use of leisure time. The schools are helping to teach these points, and will probably broaden the fields for such courses in the future, he brought out.

The wise choice of a mate seems to be made up of intangible factors, the speaker explained. For when college boys and others who have been subjected to questionnaires on the topic, choose a wife, they invariably choose women who have none of the requisites which they outlined in the questionnaire. Although many young men place intelligence at the top of the list, it has been found that a great many of young women who are college graduates never marry.

The last of the series of talks will be given next Tuesday evening in the church at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced. Dr. Loran Osborn will be the speaker.

Four Phases For Church Work Cited

ORANGE, May 4.—Various aspects of Sunday school work were discussed last night at the conference held at the First Christian church and delegations from other Christian churches were present. The speakers of the evening were Wayne Neal, of Los Angeles, director of education for the Christian churches of California, and Lloyd E. Ross, of Indianapolis, national leader of Sunday school work for churches of this denomination.

Four phases will be emphasized in Sunday school work the coming year, it was brought out. These four phases are evangelism, leadership, fellowship and training. It was stressed from the standpoint of training, it was brought out.

The Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the church, conducted the opening services. Delegations were present with the Rev. W. S. Buchanan, of Santa Ana; the Rev. George F. Tinsley, of Fullerton; the Rev. T. M. McClellan, of San Diego. A large delegation of Sunday school workers attended from the Orange church.

DWELLINGS TO BE ERECTED ON SITE OF MILL

OLIVE, May 4.—The old mill at Olive, one of Orange county's landmarks, is being torn down. The company was incorporated and the flour mill built in 1887. The original building was set near the S. A. V. I. company tunnel, but it was burned in 1889, and the company built on the present site about the following year. The late Fred Schorn was the first president, and he sold out his interest in 1906 and D. C. Pixley was elected president, with F. A. Blake as secretary and manager. The directors were N. T. Edwards, D. C. Pixley, John Edwards and F. A. Blake.

The company enjoyed a very successful term of years, from 1906 to the time the mill was sold to the Central Milling company of Los Angeles, about 12 years ago. In that time they never missed paying at least two dividends each year and when they sold out, the company was one of the most prosperous, going concerns in Orange county.

San Diego county, Orange county, Riverside county and San Bernardino county contributed soft wheat to the mill and hard wheat came from Dakota, Nebraska and some from Kansas.

The structure was three stories high when built and during the past 10 days the interior of the building has been dismantled and the top story and roof have been removed. The mill site is to be used for building lots when it is cleared.

Yale Leader Who Lost Arm Listed As Right Fielder

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 4.—(UP)—The Yale Athletic association called up the newspapers today with a correction in the line-up for the Yale-Westleyan baseball game.

"Warren for Wheeler in Yale right field."

This meant that Edgar William (Eddie) Warren, 2nd, of Westwood, Mass., who lost his left arm in a motorboat accident last summer, would play his first game since he was elected captain last year.

Warren, who has been sized up by big league scouts as a splendid short stop prospect, has learned to bat and field one-handed.

Program Given At High School

EL MODENA, May 4.—The El Modena P.-T. A. met Tuesday in the Roosevelt building. The next meeting will be in conjunction with the school picnic to be held at Irvine park near the close of school in June.

Mrs. Fay Irwin presided over the meeting. After a brief business session Mrs. Charles Robinson gave a chapter of the study book, "Training for Truth."

A musical program was given by the Girls' Glee club of the El Modena school and the Misses Mary and Barbara Robinson. At the close of the afternoon delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Charles Robinson, Mrs. Frick and Mrs. William Krueger.

PEACE TOPIC AT SESSION OF FIDELAS CLASS

Orange, May 4.—"Advertising Peace" was the topic discussed at the meeting of the Fidelas class of the First Methodist church last night, when members were entertained in the home of a former class member, Mrs. Clara Cook Allen, in her home on Tustin avenue. Mrs. Allen was assisted in her duties as hostess by Mrs. Beesie Lighthall and Miss Clara Graham.

Miss Frances Corson announced that she had written a letter to Bruce Barton, well known writer, commending an article on "Advertising Peace" which appeared in a recent magazine and it was decided that a letter to Mr. Barton should carry the approval of the entire class for the article.

Games were under the direction of Mrs. Allen and in a game of "printer's pt." the first prize, a piece of white and black crystal, went to Miss Mae Kimball, who tied for first place with Miss Frances Corson. A glass slipper went to Mrs. Peter Taylor, who was consoled. A game of hidden words was the next game introduced and first prize went to Miss Nora Edwards who found 45 words hidden in the name of the class. Miss Edwards was presented with a green crystal vase. A bean marathon was conducted, with the even side winning and the winners were presented a box of candy.

At the close of the evening Neapolitan ice cream, cup cakes and coffee were served on individual trays. Those present other than the hostesses were Mrs. Peter Taylor, of Chicago, a house guest of the W. G. Sufferns; Mrs. W. B. Nichols, Mrs. Mae Hotchkiss, Mrs. Bertha Murphy, Miss Verna Bernard, Miss Lula Kenyon, Miss Lulu Thornberg, Miss Beesie Sawyer, Miss Lydia Kiefer, Miss Elsie Parsons, Miss Ethel Suffern, Miss Dorothy Perkins, Miss Mary Bogue, Miss Tessie Winters, Miss Cleo Jones, Miss Mae Kimball, Miss Jennie Evans, Miss Edna Barnum, Miss Nora Edwards, Miss Harriet Corson, Miss Mary Lou Edwards, Miss Katherine Northcross, Miss Frances Corson and Miss Leah Fernald.

CARD PARTY HELD BY REBEKAH LODGE

ORANGE, May 4.—A covered dish dinner preceding the lodge meeting and a card party following it were two of the pleasant features of the meeting of the Ruby Rebekah lodge Monday night. Mrs. Camilla Ackley presided and dinner hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Penn Field, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Lewellen, Miss Helen Kroener, and Mrs. Beesie Lighthall.

Distinguished guests were Mrs. Jennie Mae Annin, of Fullerton, district deputy president, and D. W. Dimmock, district deputy grand patriarch. Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Richardson, of Corinth, Me., who are spending the spring months in Santa Ana, also were guests of lodge members.

Two announcements of interest were the Fullerton Rebekah lodge Mother's day program Wednesday and a similar program at the Anaheim lodge Friday.

The remainder of the evening was spent at "500" and pinocle. First prize for women at "500" went to Mrs. R. D. Richardson and low to Mrs. Annin, men's prizes at "500" were awarded to Floyd Annin, high, and Clarence Snyder, low. At pinocle first prizes went to Mrs. Rosalie Smith and high for men to Roy Cavett while Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lawson were consoled.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Campbell Held On Thursday

ORANGE, May 4.—Funeral services are to be held tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Gilgilly Funeral chapel for Mrs. Bertha Lou Dora Campbell, 30, who passed away Monday morning after a long illness. Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will be in charge of the service and interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. Campbell is survived by her husband, Charles W. Campbell and three children.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, May 4.—Announcement was made today that the monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Menonite church will not be held Friday as planned. There will be no meeting until June.

Mrs. H. O. Russell, 553 North Harwood street, spent today in Pasadena.

Mrs. J. F. Richards and Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Watson, South Glassell street, spent a day in Los Angeles recently.

The Sunshine Booster band of the Menonite church will meet Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the church. The children will continue working on their booklets.

George R. Whitcomb, 327 West Orangewood avenue, is confined to his home with illness and is reported to be about the same as he has been for the past few weeks. Although he has been ill since Christmas, his condition has grown more serious in the past several weeks.

Jake Rothschilds, of Los Angeles, was in Orange Tuesday visiting with W. W. Parsons.

'NIFTY SHOP' GIVEN AT HIGH SCHOOL MAY 26

ORANGE, May 4.—May promises to be a month of major importance to voice and piano pupils at the Orange Union High school who are under the direction of Phyllis Lucy Keyes. Two recitals, the program for which are to be announced soon, will be held May 23 and May 25.

On May 26 an operetta, "The Nifty Shop," will be given in connection with demonstration day, when officers of the Girls' League are to be installed as a part of the ceremonies arranged for the day. The operetta will provide not only for a demonstration of the voice work of the school, but frocks and summer togs will be shown by members of the sewing classes and will be modeled by those taking part in the operetta.

Particular interest is attached to the production, as it was written by Otis Carrington, teacher of music at Redwood, Calif., who is a brother-in-law of Miss Hattie Nobs of the high school faculty. Mr. Carrington is well known in Orange, and, according to Miss Keyes, his operettas have been produced in many states of the nation.

Principal roles of the operetta

Three Cars Valencias Sent East

ORANGE, May 4.—Three cars of Valencia oranges went out over the Southern Pacific to eastern markets yesterday, according to J. B. Black, agent here. Two cars were shipped Monday and shipments will increase as the season advances.

Another unit, the second to be put in operation, began work at the Santiago Orange Growers' association plant yesterday.

HOLD FUNERAL OF MRS. JENNIE PARKER

ORANGE, May 4.—With a large group of relatives and friends attending, funeral services for Mrs. Jennie E. Parker were held yesterday morning in the chapel of the Gilgilly Funeral home. Mrs. Parker's death came Saturday evening following a long illness.

The Rev. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of which Mrs. Parker was a member, officiated. He was assisted by the Rev. L. V. Lucas, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Mrs. Will Sutherland sang "Crossing the Bar" and "Oh, Love That Will Not Let Me Go" with Mrs. B. M. Warren accompanying at the organ. Mrs. Warren also played before and after the services.

Palbearers were Marion Flippin, Owen Murray, Earl Crawford, Lou Williams, Henry Campbell and Earl Campbell. Interment was in Santa Ana cemetery beside Mrs. Parker's husband, Millard F. Parker, who passed away in 1931.

Mrs. Parker passed away in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fishback, 254 North Glassell street. She was survived by another daughter, Mrs. B. M. Carner, of Solvang, Calif.; two grandchildren, Bert M. Carner, Jr. and Fred P. Carner, students at the University of California; two brothers, Elmer Hayward, of Orange and Norman Hayward, of Van Nuys; two sisters, Miss Ninerva Hayward and Mrs. A. M. Hayward, of Orange.

“and always look for this sign”

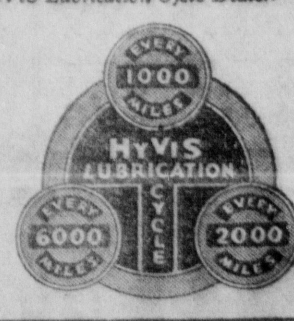

“AS A CAR DEALER, I see hundreds of dollars spent on repairs that could be avoided by use of good oil. It's fine insurance against a fifty or sixty dollar repair bill to insist on the best instead of taking a chance on so-called "cheaper" oils. Say, if you folks could spend just one day in my service department, you'd see why we always recommend HyVis.”

HyVis is 100% Pure Pennsylvania oil Super-Refined by a scientific process that duplicates modern crankcase heat conditions and drives off the light, non-lubricating materials which, in other oils, crack, break down and evaporate in your motor. Only those rich, pure lubricating ingredients which are dependable under all conditions remain in HyVis after Super-Refining. You cannot buy HyVis performance under any other name—you must ask for genuine HyVis Motor Oil.

Now 30¢ PER QUART

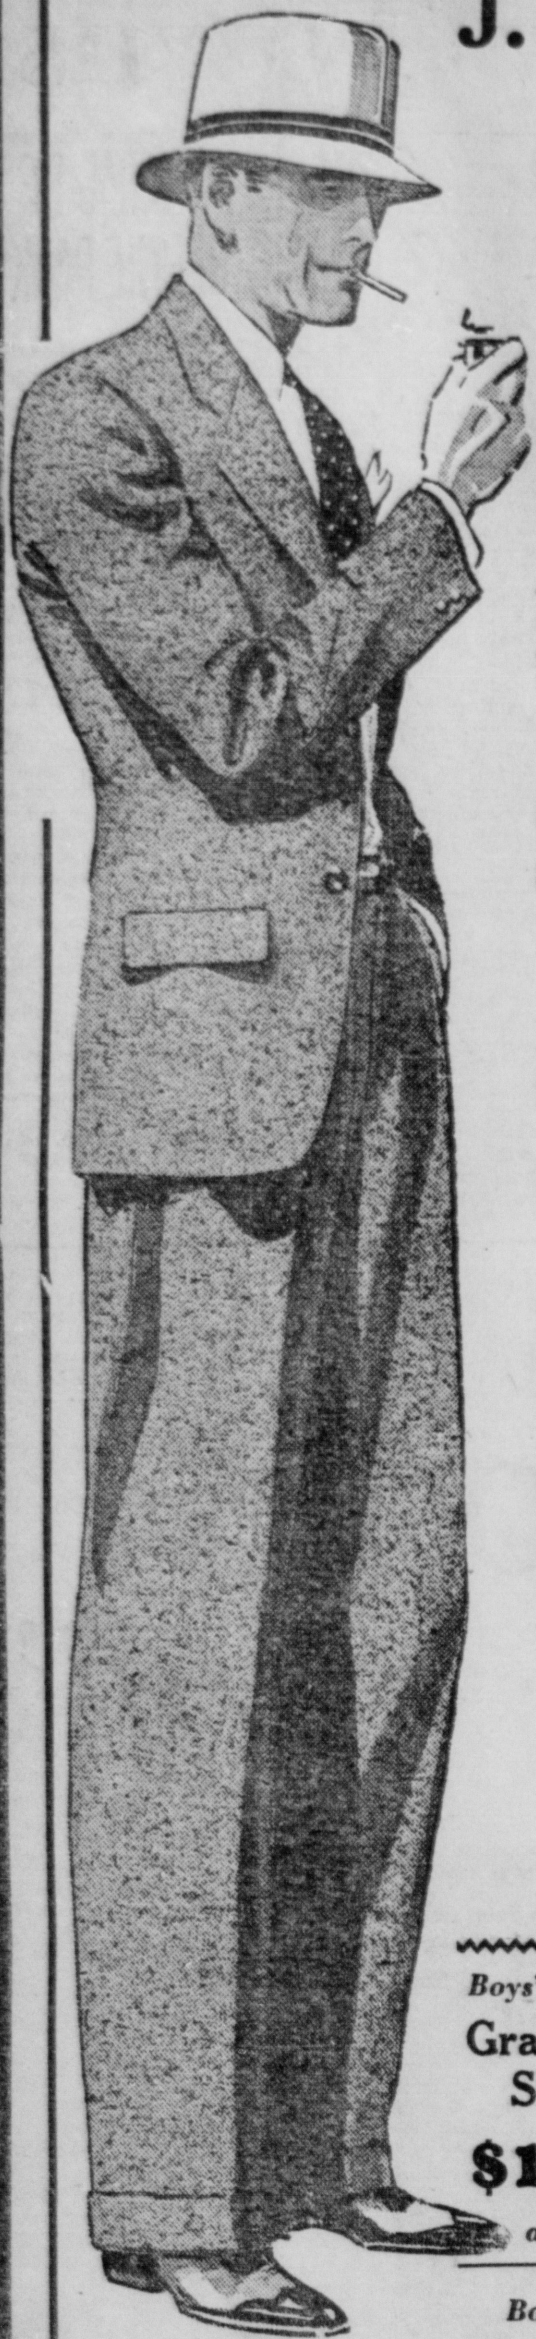

DEALERS displaying the HyVis Lubrication Cycle sign have been selected for their ability, knowledge and integrity. The lubrication service they render gives positive protection at factory specified intervals to every wear-point on every make and model of car.

It's worth while looking for the HyVis Lubrication Cycle Sign because it points the way to a dealer giving scientific lubrication at the price of an ordinary "grease job." You're sure of the RIGHT LUBRICANT in the RIGHT PLACE at the RIGHT TIME if you patronize the HyVis Lubrication Cycle Dealer.

FREMONT WINS
CASH AWARD
IN CONTEST

A report just completed by D. K. Hammond, principal of the high school and chairman of the general committee in charge of local observance of Public School Week, reveals that observance of the event here this year broke all previous records, and that Fremont won the cash prize for the greatest number of visitors in proportion to enrollment.

There was a total of 3789 visitors registered at the elementary schools during the week and it is estimated that each junior high school had more than 1000 visitors on their visiting nights. There were more than 2000 visitors at the high school and junior college. It is estimated that a total of 8500 persons visited a public school during the week.

Fremont school, Mrs. Edith Ritter, principal, won the $5 cash award for the greatest percentage of visitors in proportion to enrollment. The percentage of visitors for that school was 207.08. There are 353 students enrolled in the school and there were 731 visitors registered during the week. Franklin school was second with a percentage of 140.41. Other schools and their percentage of visitors were: Hoover, 127.45; Roosevelt, 108.09; McKinley, 107.83; Logan, 104.84; Delhi, 103.69; Edison, 97.15; Lowell, 92.11; Wilson, 78.16; Jefferson, 75.70; Lincoln, 62.78; John Muir, 61.18, and Spurgeon, 52.24.

Former Resident
Goes To Islands

Word has just been received here that Second Lieut. James A. Ronin, former Santa Ana Junior college student, has been ordered to the Eleventh bombardment squadron in the Philippine department. Lieutenant and Mrs. Ronin will sail from Ft. McDowell, San Francisco, May 25, on the army transport "Republic."

Lieutenant Ronin is a grandson of Mrs. C. M. Ronin, 711 North Main street, Santa Ana. After graduating from junior college here he attended the University of Oregon where he graduated. He has been in the army air service since 1928 when he enrolled as a cadet. In 1929 he was commissioned in the regular army air corps.

CLUB PLANS SOCIAL
WESTMINSTER, May 4.—Announcement is made by the Young Matrons' club of the Westminster Presbyterian church of an ice cream party being given on the evening of May 12 at the church social hall. The event will be made a May festival with refreshment tables decorated according to months and at these visitors will be seated according to their birth month. A program will be presented by the children.

HIGHLY APPROVE D

After a glimpse of this picture, you probably have given your approval to lovely Milla Ondra. So did the Czechoslovakian Ministry. High government officials proclaimed the actress "one of the republic's greatest assets" and "unquestionably the most popular woman in the country."

EXPORTS FROM CALIFORNIA IN 1931 ARE HIGH

In a nation which, instead of having lost its foreign prestige, as seems to be the impression in many quarters, led the world in exports in 1931, California ranked third in total amount of exports, which amounted to $304,876,293 for the year, according to word received by the local chamber of commerce from the department of commerce at Washington, D. C.

New York led the export trade during the year, with Texas second and California third, the figures revealed. The United States led the world in exports in 1931. Germany, which displaced the United Kingdom as the second in rank, showed a value of $2,192,850,000, while the total from the United States in exports was $2,377,981,786. Exports from the United Kingdom, including re-exports, amounted to only $2,069,823,000 in value. All other countries showed much smaller totals. France, in fourth place, attained a value of only $1,192,516,000.

The significance of export trade to American labor is clear when it is realized that more than 1,400,000 workers, receiving more than a billion and a half dollars in wages, were directly engaged in producing goods for export during the year. Furthermore, there was probably an equal additional number employed indirectly in service activities and in supplying the needs of those engaged directly, the report stated. Although the value of exports in 1931 was 37 per cent smaller than in 1930, this falling off was due in large part to the drastic price declines during the year. In actual quantity, exports declined 20 per cent, or only slightly more than the decline in domestic business.

Mexican Program
Held At Placentia
Chamber Meeting

PLACENTIA, May 4.—A special Mexican program was featured yesterday when members of Placentia Chamber of Commerce met at the Americanization school for their regular session.

Members of the Woman's club, organized under Miss Rose Cambers and the Americanization department, served a tamale dinner. The program included dance and song and instrumental numbers. Officers of the club were introduced as Mrs. Julia Galvan, president; Henrietta Enriquez, vice president; Mrs. Francisca Diaz, secretary, and Mrs. Soledad Baca, treasurer.

Mrs. Druzilla Mackey, head of the work, and Mrs. V. L. Adams assisted with serving dinner. At the meeting, over which A. S. Bradford presided, John Tuffree told of his recent trip to San Salvador. Ralph McGadden announced that national directors of the farm bureau federation will be honor guests at a basket picnic at Irvine park May 24.

PROGRAM GIVEN
BREA, May 4.—Visitors from the University of Redlands entertained the student body of Brea-Olinda union high school with vocal, violin and recitation numbers this week. They invited the senior class of the Brea school to attend university day services May 14.

ASK MORTGAGE
HOLDERS HERE TO BE LENIENT

Asking holders of mortgages and trust deeds on Santa Ana residence property to be as lenient as possible in the way of pressing the owner for payment when the latter is out of work an announcement from the Citizens' Unemployment Emergency committee's office at North Main and Tenth streets today read as follows:

"It has come to the attention of this office from time to time that residents of this city who have heretofore had the reputation of meeting their obligations promptly have lost or are about to lose their homes through unemployment and consequent loss of income and inability to meet payments. We urge all holders of mortgages and trust deeds to bear with their debtors as far as possible to the end that our citizens may retain their homes during the present depression, feeling sure that if these citizens have met their obligations in the past they will do so again as soon as their financial condition permits."

"In cases where the home is being purchased in monthly payments which include both interest and a portion of the principal we suggest that payment of interest alone be accepted if possible over the present emergency to the end that the unemployed citizen may not lose title to his property. This practical application of the Golden Rule will, we believe, prove in the long run to be sound business procedure."

ORANGE PERSONALS

Mrs. E. A. Stone, of Orange, had as recent guests, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Porter, of Los Angeles. Mr. Porter is a brother of Mayor Porter, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. L. H. Ware and daughter, Barbara-Lou, of San Bernardino, spent Tuesday with Mrs. N. L. Raymond, 374 South Shaffer street. Announcement was made today that Mrs. Joseph Thacker, of this city, is to be the speaker Friday afternoon at the meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Baptist church to be held at 2 o'clock in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. H. P. Sheerer, 439 South Grand street. Mrs. Thacker also will be the speaker tomorrow at the meeting of the Missionary society of the Orange Methodist church. She spoke Wednesday afternoon at the meeting held by the women of the Spurgeon Memorial church in Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Eckhoff, who have made their home in Orange for the past year, have arrived in New York City, it was learned here today. They left here April 14 for an extended visit with relatives and friends in various eastern points.

A study group of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church held a weekly meeting Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ethel Niquette, East Maple avenue. Mrs. Jo Witt, West La Veta avenue, went to Gilman Hot Springs Saturday, expecting to remain for a month to recuperate from a recent illness. Mr. Witt accompanied her, staying there for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Stinson and son, John, West Taft avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Graham, of Santa Ana, spent Sunday in Hemet attending the Ramona pageant.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gill, 354 North Orange street, spent the week end in Pasadena. Their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Gill, is in the Pasadena hospital undergoing treatment in preparation for an operation, and another daughter, Miss Doane Gill, a nurse in the hospital, is caring for her.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Westerman, 512 East Palmyra avenue, had as week end guests, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Wray, of Riverside.

C. S. Bagan, South Tustin avenue, is remaining indefinitely in Ohio, where he was called late in April by the illness of his sister.

Don Hooker and Earl Reynolds, of Los Angeles, spent Sunday with Mr. Reynolds' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Reynolds, 384 South Grand street.

PRECOOLING OF
FRUIT BIG AID
IN MARKETING

Rapid advances in the pre-cooling of fruit before shipment are being made to give substantial aid in the marketing of California products in the opinion of Professor F. W. Allen of the Pomology division, College of Agriculture at Davis, in reports to citrus fruit growers in Orange county.

While the value of precooling as a means of checking the ripening of fruit has been realized for many years, Allen claims it is only recently that definite information has been obtained on the relative rates of ripening of fruit at different temperatures.

Experimental tests have shown that certain fruits held in cold storage at a temperature of 36 degrees will ripen almost twice as fast as fruit held continuously at 31 degrees.

Fruit held at 43 degrees, which would represent a favorable temperature in a refrigerator car, will ripen about four times as rapidly as fruit at 31 degrees. At 50 to 53 degrees, the fruit will ripen twice as fast as that stored at 43 degrees, Allen said. These different temperatures may be found in the average refrigerator car inasmuch as the fruit is usually warm and the cold air from the ice settles to the bottom. As a result the top pack becomes over-ripe and the bottom layers arrive in good condition.

"The two methods of precooling," Professor Allen said, "are warehouse and car precooling. In the first the fruit is stored in warehouses and cold air blown through the pile from 48 to 72 hours before loading into refrigerator cars."

"Car precooling consists of accelerating the air movement in refrigerator cars by the use of fans and air temperatures as low as 27 degrees have been reached. Two days or so of precooling while the car remains on a siding, brings the entire temperature of the car down to a low point near which it can be maintained during the journey by the natural circulation from the ice bunkers."

Allen declared the warehouse method was the most efficient, but it requires a relatively large investment in cooling plant and warehouse facilities.

STANTON

Mrs. J. C. McDermas has been having her home, which was damaged by fire three weeks ago, remodeled.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Hughes, of Long Beach, took dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Maurer. On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. W. Powell, of Long Beach, were callers.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kelso of Long Beach, accompanied by Mrs. Louie Stine, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Laughlin.

G. W. Irwin, of Los Angeles, spent the week end with his mother Mrs. R. O. Bennett.

Unexpected callers of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thompson Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Carol Wilson, Mrs. Wilson's brother, Garnett Stole, and Miss Mildred Libbey. They were friends in Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jenkins and daughter, Dorothy, of Long Beach, spent two days recently with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rowe. Leaving there they started on an automobile trip to Philadelphia, where they will spend several months in visiting relatives.

The age of stalagmites can be told by their "rings" like those of a tree, according to Carl B. Livingston, scientist and lecturer.

STARTS A NEW FAN FAD

Here is Tallulah Bankhead, Hollywood film star, and the new fan which has started a fad in the movie colony. Its simple mechanism, worked by hand, causes the propeller to revolve, giving a breeze quite similar to the one generated by the ordinary electric fan. It's an old Spanish-American custom.

SANTA ANANS
WILL ATTEND
LOAN MEETING

Several Santa Ana building and loan executives are planning to attend the Twenty-Seventh Annual Convention of the California Building-Loan League which will be held in Riverside at the Mission Inn from May 5 to 7, inclusive, it was learned today.

C. S. Crookshank, president; C. W. Reardon, vice president and director, and J. C. Horton, director, of the Santa Ana Building and Loan association, are making arrangements to attend the affair.

Friend W. Richardson, building-loan commissioner; W. R. Gibbon, secretary, State Mutual Building and Loan association, Los Angeles, and H. B. Ketcherside, president, Commonwealth Building and Loan association, Long Beach, are scheduled as the principal speakers at the opening session.

An elaborate program of entertainment including a golf tournament has been arranged for delegates and wives. On the afternoon of the final day the entire convention will attend the Romana pageant at Hemet. A banquet featuring Lieut. Gov. Frank Merriam as principal speaker, will conclude the convention. Other noted speakers will make addresses during the convention on topics of interest to the executives.

Mrs. M. Timmons
Heads Booklovers

PLACENTIA, May 4.—Mrs. Mary Timmons was re-elected head of the Booklovers' section of Placentia Round Table at the reorganization meeting at the home of Mrs. E. E. Knight in Yorba Linda Monday afternoon. Mrs. W. W. Blackmer was leader of the afternoon session.

Plans were made to make the May 16 meeting a picnic at the home of Mrs. Fred Tuffree at Sunset Beach.

COAST GROUP
SESSION WILL FEATURE TAXES

Union of all groups studying the matter of taxation will be advocated at the next meeting of the Orange County Coast association to be held at San Clemente on May 17.

Thos. Murphine, mayor of San Clemente and chairman of the coast group studying tax matters, has arranged for several prominent speakers to be present at this meeting and present new and interesting angles of the pressing subject of taxes. That there is a spirit of cooperation to study the problem and relieve the burden in any measure possible is the statement of Chairman Murphine.

The coast association gathering will be held at Travaglini's cafe at dinner at 6:30. President J. A. Armistage has asked other committees to be ready to report on general subject at a later meeting in order that as much time as possible may be given to the tax question. Information from the several sections of the coast line of Orange county are to the effect that the opening of the summer season promises to yield a "big season" and all sections are making preparations to take care of a large number of visitors. Guests at the Olympic games will be invited to visit the coast line and special committee groups are planning methods of approach to the visitors and guests in Southern California for the Olympics.

Seventh Whittier
Avocado Show Set
For May 10 to 14

The Seventh Annual Avocado show will be held this year in Whittier from May 10 to 14, according to announcement made by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg. This show is being promoted by the Progress club of Whittier and is held annually for the purpose of giving publicity to California's avocado industry. It is educational in that the promoters of the show are interested in furnishing all possible information as to varieties, location of avocado districts, and on all practices involved in the production of avocados.

An avocado institute, under the auspices of the Agricultural Extension service, will be held on May 12 in connection with the show, at which time there will be a program on subjects of interest to all avocado growers.

The California Avocado show will be held at the corner of Painter avenue and Walnut street in Whittier.

SELECTED CLASSIC PROGRAM TONIGHT

Another program of selected classics will be presented tonight at 6 o'clock over radio KREG. This program will feature some of the outstanding musical organizations of the nation playing some of the better known classics.

Two of the outstanding numbers on this program will be played by Vessella's Italian Band. This organization will play selections from "La Boheme" by Puccini and the duet from the Garden Scene in "Faust" by Gounod. Ella Nye will play Liszt's No. 8 Hungarian Rhapsody and Chopin's Etude from Opus 10, No. 3.

ERMA BAXTER WINS RADIO APPLAUSE

Erma Baxter scheduled for 2:30 p. m. tomorrow over radio KREG when she will present her "Songs of Yesterday" program is proving to be a success with radio audiences. During the past few days she has received letters from appreciative listeners in Long Beach, Anaheim, Santa Ana and surrounding cities.

The response received in connection with Miss Baxter's programs is appreciated by the program director as it is through this response that he can judge whether or not artists are pleasing to the vast audience of radio listeners.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL
Clothes Do Make the Man
"Sunday clothes" have a moral as well as a tonic effect," says a prominent social service worker. "Clothes make the man or woman. The sooner mothers wake up to the fact that decent clothes mean decent children, the sooner we'll have better children. Children are more polite on Sundays than on week days. Sunday clothes are worth more to the building of a child's character than a thousand sermons."

I agree with the lady. The old saying puts it even better: Cleanliness is next to godliness. And godliness, or self-respect and intelligent living, come through cleanliness of body and clothing. Men, women and children understand concrete evidence of better living rather than the Utopian moralizing of the man who loves to hear his own thunder.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Base of Lemon Filling
(For Yesterday's Pie Recipe)

Nine egg yolks, six egg whites, one rounded cup of sugar, juice of three lemons, three tablespoons melted butter, six tablespoons whipping cream. One-third cup powdered sugar for meringue, one teaspoon flavoring.

Deep pie tin lined with rich pastry. Save the egg whites and powdered sugar for meringue, put the other ingredients together in the order given. Bake the shell and filling together.

And here are given three variations, using the lemon filling as the base. Permit me to suggest that the juice of one lemon will be sufficient in the orange pie. Change the sugar measurement for the orange pie.

Orange Pie
Juice of 3 oranges
Grated yellow rind of 1
3-4 cup sugar

Pineapple Pie
To the lemon base as given add one large can of crushed pineapple, well drained of juice.

Banana Pie
To the lemon base add six ripe, soft bananas sliced or crushed with a silver fork.

The calory total given for yesterday's Lemon Pie was 2800. To this total add 200 for the orange pie, 250 for the pineapple pie, and 600 for the banana pie, unless the bananas are small. All these pies will serve eight people.

Did You Try Sunshine Cake?
And if you did, you may have had a little difficulty in handling the lemon juice in the boiling syrup. The test should have read "soft ball stage" rather than the "threading" test.

Or, better still, if you have trouble, leave out the lemon juice, boil the syrup just beyond the thread stage and add the lemon juice after the syrup is taken off the stove.

Either way will be successful if the baking heat is carefully watched. The cake is slightly yellowed if the lemon juice is boiled with the syrup.

Pepper Relish and Mushroom Catsup, with an additional recipe for an Apple Chutney will be found in the leaflet this week. Not a single one but can be made right now. Mushrooms are to be had for the picking and this leaflet just for the expense and trouble of sending me your stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TOMORROW I am repeating the recipe for Fruit Cookies. I hope it is the recipe a reader has asked me to repeat. I picked the one I like to make best.

WALKER'S STATE

Now that the skinny lad was gone, wee lary Duncy, with a yawn said, "Well, I guess I'll take a nap. I'm tired as I can be."

"There's nothing much that I can do right now to help the rest of you. Our boat just travels by itself, while sailing out to sea."

"Why don't two of you join me now? The last one can get by somehow until it is his turn to snore. That way we'll all keep fit. We'll sleep a half an hour or so. The one on watch can then shout. Ho! Wake up, one of you Tynmies and right in the guard's seat sit."

"A good idea," Scouty said. "The rest of you go right ahead and have your little catnap. I'll be the first to stay awake."

"Don't worry! I will steer our boat and safely keep the thing afloat. A half hour's snooze will be too short. An hour you'd better take."

It wasn't very long until all those on board the boat were still. Kind

Scouty watched the other three drift into slumberland. He smiled when they began to snore and wondered what folks did that for. They're dreaming now, thought Scouty, and he hoped their dreams were grand.

On went the boat, across the sea. Soon Scouty, started as could be, jumped to his feet and cried, "Awake! A strange thing's happenin' here."

The others opened their eyes. You can imagine their surprise when they saw an old man in the water, very near.

The man exclaimed, "I'm water king and good advice for you I bring. If you would have some real good fun, continue on your way."

And then he added, with a smile, "You'll shortly reach a little isle. Be sure and land your boat there. It's a wondrous place to play."

SUGGESTIONS FROM ELECTION

Yesterday the people spoke on the important issue that was before them in no uncertain terms. The Sharkey, so-called "oil control" bill, which proposed to disfranchise the people of the state and let the oil owners determine the production, distribution, and price, was defeated by a vote in the state of some 3 to 1, in the county of Orange some 4 to 1, and in the city of Santa Ana 6 to 1.

This vote on the Sharkey bill in the state has double significance, when one considers that the Chambers of Commerce of San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego and of Bakersfield all went on record pronouncedly and in the cases of three larger cities, if we recall correctly, unanimously on behalf of this Sharkey oil bill.

Its repudiation by a vote of 3 to 1 is quite indicative of the people's determination to think and act for themselves, and certainly not to follow the direction of these bodies. In harmony with the Chamber of Commerce, the Los Angeles Times was strongly for the Sharkey bill, while we did not notice any opposition to it by the Hearst papers. In Bakersfield, Kern county, where the Chamber of Commerce reversed itself, first being against it and then being for it after some work had been done among them, the people voted against it by a better than two to one majority. In Anaheim the Chamber of Commerce and the local paper were favorable to it, and it was beaten by a vote of three to one. The second proposition certainly was not understood by the people of the state. It was a proposition that was stated negatively, and people did not understand it, and even those who did understand it did not know in many cases what was back of it.

Under the guise of protecting the beaches, the big oil companies, whose derricks line the beach front, desired to protect themselves from the state and the community taking the oil on behalf of the people, and they got the people to vote for such a measure. The state and the community that have a right to these tidelands, under the law as passed, cannot take the oil, whereas the big companies, whose wells line the ocean front, can continue to take the oil.

In Santa Ana the bill by which this monopoly is clinched on the ocean front, was defeated by a vote of 5 to 3, even though it carried in the state. The more the Santa Anans learn of the facts and what is behind them, the more proud he will be of his vote on that measure.

Mr. Garner on the Democratic ticket won by about 3 to 1 in Santa Ana over Governor Roosevelt and nearly 7 to 1 over Mr. Smith. We believe the figures will show on all three of these propositions that Santa Ana, and possibly Orange county, showed the most pronounced vote along these lines of any city and county in the entire state.

It was very fortunate indeed that we had the Sharkey oil bill to attract the voter to the polls. It made possible a substantial vote on behalf of Mr. Hoover, which is gratifying to his friends. At the same time, the Democratic vote, in total, in relation to the total Republican vote, is quite striking, in view of the preponderance of Republican voters in California, but this certainly can be explained by the fact that there was no contest in the Republican ranks.

Many evidently did not vote the presidential ticket at all, for the total vote on the oil propositions exceeded the total vote for presidential candidates all over the state, and in Santa Ana it was exceeded by 1000.

Those advocating the veterans' bonus should remember that $2,000,000,000 is a lot of money. That's all the bankers and railroads got!

THE PEOPLE REPUDIATE SOVIETISM

The overwhelming defeat of the Sharkey Oil bill was due not by any means, in our judgment, to the sentiment against control of the oil business, either in California or the nation. It was simply a protest in self-defense by the people against a control by the oil interests for themselves, with the people losing voice in such control.

The truth is, thinking people recognize the necessity for control in a sane manner, not only of the oil industry, but of many other industries, particularly of necessities, in our state and nation.

Reckless competition, and the situation in regard to the great mass of wage-earners will compel, if conditions continue, that some, if not many of the great business enterprises, shall be so controlled and conducted, not only to assure proper production and distribution, but the employment of the people and a reasonable compensation.

It is important that oil companies get sufficient for their oil to make it profitable to produce it, but it is just as important that a man get sufficient for his day's work so that he may live. And yet the driving competition under which we are laboring, forces all of us who are in this competitive work to buy where we can buy the cheapest, whether it is labor or oil, and sell where we can sell the dearest.

If we can have a fair control, and representing all the people, rather than a selected group of them in only one industry, who in turn would do what is fair and right by the industry, by labor and by the people, we should favor it with all our strength. And while it is too much to hope that this can be done for all industries at one time, and the oil industry recognizes that it must have the co-operation of the government to control it, we would favor that being done by a commission representing the whole state or the whole nation, which would take all interests into consideration in forming a judgment, and not simply the oil industry itself.

To do it the way the oil industry was planning to do it, letting them run their own affair, is simply to Russianize industry in this country. The Soviet principle is to control by industries, and from these industries, representatives are selected to a local Soviet. There is no place for the citizen, aside from his place in the particular industry.

The oil people may be right, that this is the only way that we can operate, but we do not believe that America has reached that point yet. We still can and should operate as a democracy, controlling all the affairs within the democracy, and not letting any one or a few of the affairs inside the democracy control the rest of us.

Newfoundland gets more like South America every day. After a tropical winter, it turns up with a revolution!

CONGRESSMAN MCFADDEN RENOMINATED

Congressman McFadden of Pennsylvania has captured both the Republican and the Democratic nominations in his district. Mrs. Pinchot, the wife of the governor, came out a very poor second in the Republican primaries, and the Congressman had no rival in the Democratic primaries.

It may be recalled that Congressman McFadden drew down upon himself the wrath of the Republicans and Democrats alike for his vitriolic and savage attacks upon President Hoover for his support unflinchingly of the big banking interests delivered a few months ago in the House of Representatives. It was then generally predicted that the attack sounded the political death knell of the man who had been in Congress for nearly a score of years, and who had held the important chairmanship of the Committee on Banking ever since the Republicans regained the control of the House in 1918.

Congressman McFadden has been the stormy petrel of the banking interests. He has no capacity for keeping silent when the bankers of the country are trying to put something over. For ourselves we do not believe that he can be compared with Senator Glass, who is the ranking member of the similar committee of the Senate, either in ability or in vision; but in these days we rather welcome a voice that dares to speak its mind on some of the questionable practices of some of the great financial interests centering in New York. The testimony which is being given before the Senate committee on Banking reveals a condition of things which require a McFadden to shout the facts from the housetop.

From this distance we cannot quite understand why the liberal wife of the liberal governor of Pennsylvania should have opposed him in the primaries. One would have thought, in view of the recent utterances of Gov. Pinchot, that he and the members of his family would have been favorable to a man like McFadden. At any rate, the Congressman is destined to be a member of the next Congress; and we are not sorry for the presence in the House of a few men, even though we may disagree with them, who keep alive in a body which has been too much under the whip of party leaders that spirit of independence which is needed when parties are all too much dominated by special interests.

Decent People Everywhere

The wicked usually receive the lion's share of publicity. The vague for underworld cinemas and plays lends additional overemphasis to the activities of evildoers. If people in every country would only remember this, it would help to a mutual understanding of national character. A French journalist sets a good example of calm understanding.

He had just seen an American film in which all the actors carried a revolver in their right-hand coat pockets. On the slightest provocation guns were pulled, and by the end of the picture there were four or five fatalities. It is no wonder, he writes, that film fans credit the legend that one can't dine in a Chicago restaurant without a revolver on the table. "Everything which comes to us from America, aside from the debt question," would lead Frenchmen to believe that the country is made up exclusively of "gangsters, kidnapers, vamps," and the like.

Yet this reasonable writer believes such an opinion is "exaggerated." Doubtless in America there are also honest workmen, good bourgeois folk and decent millionaires. One simply does not hear about them. It is the same with France. Foreign papers report her crimes passionnelles and political intrigues, rather than the work of her savants or the life of her working classes.

A Frenchwoman enclosed a clipping containing these views with a letter to an American friend. She agreed heartily that "there are decent people in both our countries." Incidentally, though she speaks English well, she asked for a definition of the words "gangster," "racketeer" and "vamp."

VANQUISHED VANITY

Pray, who is this moron? you wonder;
Just look at him grimace and blink
As a wabbly foot slithers from under
And he flops on the floor of the ring.
You have seen him somewhere, you are certain
And then, in a second or two,
You glance through a rift in the curtain
And discover—good gosh!—that it's you!

Here's a photograph, faded and yellow,
And a bit out of focus, of course,
Of an awkward, self-conscious young fellow
On a bicycle tall as a horse.
His features are furrowed with worry;
What a worn, haggard visage is his!
Then on through the pages you hurry
For you suddenly know who it is!

And who is this chap with the putter,
In the midst of a curious throng,
Batting balls down a painted tin gutter
On a golf course a hundred feet long?
Then, as over the snapshot you hover
Your cheeks with a flame are aglow,
And you're aghast and abashed to discover
It was you—only three years ago.

When you get that superior feeling
Just run through that album, and gaze
At a few dozen pictures, revealing
Yourself in the happy old days.
Then, after a bad quarter hour
With a scowl you will thrust it aside,
For the volume possesses the power
To banish the sin we call pride.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

BUDGETS AND BUNK

There is a vast amount of unadulterated bunk being thrown around the current discussion of balanced budgets.
There can never be justification for waste in the operation of government.
We cannot make a case for useless construction just to make work.

But there is one argument being used in behalf of balancing our budgets at all costs that will bear looking into.
It is said ton all hands that we must balance our budget in order to preserve our credit as a nation.

I submit that the one thing that will surely fortify our credit as a nation is the recovery of American business through a revival of popular purchasing power.
If this is true—and I am sure it is—then every proposal for balancing the budget should be considered in terms of what it will do to help or to hamper the revival of popular purchasing power.

At a time when business suffers serious retardation because private spending is at low ebb, the popular cry in political circles is:
The government must stop borrowing!
The government must slow down spending!
Let us stop to think for just a minute.
It is possible to have an economic hysteria that is quite as suicidal as an extravagance hysteria.

I wonder: If tomorrow we could wipe all governmental borrowing off the slate and cut the expenditures of government in half whether we could find our economic situation generally improved or made graver!

If we are afraid of direct inflation of our currency, it is important to remember that every dollar, either borrowed or derived from taxation, that government spends acts as a force to swell the volume of employment and enterprise in a time of depression.

In other words it behooves us to be careful lest we lose our heads and launch out of false and futile economies that will actually cancel the efforts government is making in other directions to stimulate economic enterprise.

THE SCHOOL BAND

We have a school band. It began with the school orchestra. That is a group of earnest musicians led by the master musician of the school. They play fine music with the understanding and devotion of musical artists. Woe on him by whom a discord is created. Weeks of apologetic care will scarcely make up.

One day three boys appeared in the office. "Please can we play in the orchestra? We asked the professor and he said 'No.'"
"Then I have little chance of saying yes," said I.
"Can't you make him?"
"No. Nobody can. He's the leader of the orchestra and what he says is the beginning and the end."

The three looked sad. I looked at them closely and wondered. They were not the sort of lads who played in the orchestra. Far from it. In the orchestra you wear a white blouse, a carefully knotted tie. Your shoes are shining and your hands are immaculate and your conduct marks are rarely lower than A. I knew at a glance that these chaps rated about a B in work and a scant B in conduct. The marks of their play were upon them, buttons were missing and ties were straggling. But they wanted to play in the band, and my heart went out to them.

"The orchestra isn't a band, you know. Not really. It's a music class." Their faces changed. "What was it you wanted to play?"

"We wanted to play the trumpet and a bass drum and a fife." I see. Well, I'll ask the professor and see what he says. I asked the professor and he roared a loud and emphatic "No" that you could recognize as a fixed determination to guard the orchestra at all costs.

I was wondering what to do about it when I spied a young teacher, a boy who had started to teach and who seemed to like his job. "Do you know anything about music? Can you play a fife, or beat a drum, or blow a trumpet?" He laughed. "I know enough for that, yes. Why?"

I told him about the three wistful musicians. "They're not artists, please understand. What they want is to make a joyful and legitimate noise and have a chance to show off every once in a while. They need this. Think you could give them a lift?"

You should see that band. We wouldn't give it up for anything. They are the young rascals who gave their teachers heartscald. Grammar lessons, tables, neatness, care and quiet and obedient responses are not for them. But if they can play in the band, if they're different.

You see a fellow can blow off a lot of energy on a trumpet. And a fife can use up a lot of wind and mischief. When it comes to banging a drum—well that is heaven itself. You should see them on gala days. The fifes and drums and trumpets going full blast, the band marching proudly through the streets admired by all beholders. Once the shopkeepers, just for fun, threw them handfuls of nuts and sweets. They made a dash for them to the disgust of the leader and teacher. A school band is one of the finest outlets, one of the best means of growth and discipline you can imagine. It costs far less than you would think. Help comes from all sorts of quarters. And it pays over and over again in good behavior and work.

Now and then one of them graduates to the orchestra, but that is a rare happening. They are childish musicians, just noise makers, growing up into self-controlled people.

GERMAN ATTACK FAILS

On May 4, 1918, a German attack on Locon was repulsed with heavy losses. British and French troops in Picardy continued their local counterattacks, improving their positions at Meteren and at Loore, after sharp fighting.
American troops in the Lorraine sector raided the German lines and penetrated to the third line of defense near Houlville. A French shell was reported to have disabled the last of the long-range German guns which had been shelling Paris since the start of the great German drive on March 21.

The U. S. senate adopted the sedition bill, permitting the government to punish disloyal acts and utterances for the duration of the war.

Berlin dispatches said that a treaty of peace between Rumania and the Central Powers had been agreed upon and would be signed within a week.

Captain John Cree Wilson, who conducted an army school in Los Angeles, followed a few days' visit in this city with his mother, Mrs. Cynthia Wilson, with a departure for Camp Kearney to be followed by visits in San Francisco and other northern points before he left for Atlanta, Ga.
Harry C. Westover of Tucson, Ariz., returned to his studies at University of Arizona after a few days' visit with his grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Mueselman. He represented his university in a debate with University of Southern California, held in Los Angeles, in which he took first place for the second successive year. He and his twin brother had volunteered for government service and were to leave for the east immediately after graduating in June.
